REGISTRATION DATES FOR GASOLINE SET

Junior High Schools To Handle Job Starting Wednesday.

Basic registration for gasoline ration cards for Marion city owners of passenger cars and motorcycles will be conducted next Wednesday, Thursday and Friday in the three junior high schools.

Arrangements to handle the city registration were completed yesterday by Supt. E. E. Holt and the faculties of the schools involved.

Details of the county registration have not been announced.

Superintendent Holt especially urged today that registrants go to the school in the district in which they live. Cooperation on the part of the registrants will mean less congestion and delay, he pointed out.

The schools will be open continuously from 9:30 a. m. to 9 p. m. during the three days. Classes will be dismissed. Afternoons the juniors at the Thomas A. Edison Junior High school will assist at their school and seniors from Harding High school will assist at Vernon Heights and Central Junior High schools.

Rationing officials again announced that all persons owning passenger cars and motorcycles must have basic "A" cards. The basic cards are required if the registrant applies for supplemental "B" or "C" cards.

Officials also emphasized that to get the basic "A" cards, registrants must present a vehicle registration card and the serial numbers of all tires. Without these essential credentials no person will be issued a basic card.

Plant Cafeteria To Be Operating Soon

Representatives of the Hawkeye Catering Co. of Burlington, Ia., which will operate the Scioto Ordnance Plant cafeteria, have arrived to begin preparations to open the cafeteria, possibly next week. Ferd Mueller, 54, a partner in charge of the cafeteria at the Iowa Ordnance Plant, is here to direct the work. He has been connected with cafeterias for 23 years at various cities in Kansas and Missouri.

James Haines, 32, who for a number of years has worked as a hotel chef and more recently was at the Iowa Ordnance Plant cafeteria, will be chief chef.

HOPE REVIVED FOR FINDING FAMOUS ACE

Hunt Renewed in Pacific Near Where Pilot Is Found on Raft.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13—Hope for the rescue of Captain Eddie Rickenbacker, the famous World war ace who has been missing in the Pacific since October 21, was revived today when the war department announced the rescue yesterday of a member of the crew of the plane which was last heard from over Hawaiian waters.

Hopefully the war department said:

"It is believed possible that other survivors may be on life rafts in the same general vicinity."

Stimson Hopeful

Days after the plane disappeared, Secretary of War Stimson still had held hope of Rickenbacker's rescue, commenting that the flier was "an exception to ordinary rules."

The rescued flier was Capt. William T. Cherry Jr., of Abilene, Tex. The department said he was picked up by the navy yesterday, "in good condition, but weak."

The rescue immediately intensified search of the vast ocean areas south of Honolulu where Rickenbacker's plane disappeared October 21, when the World war flying ace was enroute to the South Pacific to survey army air forces for Secretary of War Stimson and Lieut. Gen. Henry H. Arnold, air force chief.

Search Renewed

The war department said in announcing Capt. Cherry's rescue that in the unidentified area of the South Pacific where he was found, "an intensive search of the area is being made by surface vessels and long-range planes."

Cherry was pilot of the Rickenbacker plane. It was last heard from on Oct. 21 in a message picked up by an island station southwest of Honolulu saying sufficient gasoline remained for only about one hour's flight.

11 JAP SHIPS OUT OF ACTION

U. S. Subs Take Heavy Toll; Enemy Also Loses 11 Warplanes in Action.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13—American submarines and bombing planes, striking at Japanese supply lines sprawled across the South Pacific put at least 11 cargo or transport vessels out of action in the battle for the Solomon islands and New Guinea.

Seven of the equipment and troop-carrying craft were sent to the bottom by torpedoes launched from far-ranging submarines.

Heavy bombers caught four others and damaged them in the harbor at the Japanese Buin-Faisi base in the northern Solomons.

On land in the Solomons a lull apparently has developed in the battle between American troops and Japanese invaders seeking to regain Henderson airfield from which bombers can control many shipping lanes.

In New Guinea, however, the battling of ground troops continues to pile up victories for American and allied forces. Gen. Douglas A. MacArthur reported the enemy was retreating from the Oivi-Gorari area where the Japanese had sought to gain control in the Owen Stanley mountain area. The retreat might develop into a disorderly rout, official reports indicated, for the Japs have abandoned much equipment and left behind some troops.

Enemy aerial attacks on American held positions in the Solomons were made at heavy cost, the Navy reported. Navy interceptor planes shot down 17 Japanese bombers and Zero fighters and

Bricker Asks All Aids To Remain in Positions

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 13—Bricker wants all members of Ohio's present official family to serve with him during his third term starting Jan. 11.

The governor, meeting with his cabinet and chief administrative officers yesterday, asked all of them to serve again and requested that departmental heads prepare legislative amendments designed to enhance the state's war effort.

These amendments included one which would reduce the state's automobile speed limit from 50 to 35 miles an hour and another that would alter statutes governing working hours for women.

French and Arabs Provide Comedy in African Battle

By WILLIAM STONEMAN

U. S. Correspondent With The AEF In Africa
(Distributed By The Associated Press)

SOMEWHERE IN ALGERIA, Nov. 12—(Delayed)—Comic opera intruded into the great allied expedition to North Africa Sunday morning, the opening day of the campaign, west of Algiers at the small suburb of El Biar.

A small army of American boys who never had heard a gun go off in anger before tangled with a bunch of Frenchmen in what is now known as the battle of El Biar.

There was nothing funny about the shooting.

The comedy was provided by our French civilian friends and by those strangest of all people, the Arabs.

French snipers and machine-gunners had established themselves in a barracks just west of the Algiers suburb earlier in the day and the battle happened when our boys decided it was time to stop fooling around.

Fire from 25-pound mortars and machine-guns drove the French out of the barracks and back into the town.

I found our boys sneaking from tree to lamp post, ducking odd shots and whamming back with their Garands whenever they saw or thought they saw stray enemies.

An odd body tumbling from a balcony now and then proved the accuracy of their fire.

This cowboy-and-Indian performance apparently was just what the locals had been waiting for all their lives.

While rifles cracked, family groups—including papa, mama, grandma, grandpa and all the little ones—stood on the sidewalks

Pre-Blackout Test Held for Marion Corps

First official inspection of Marion's civilian defense organization, in preparation for a trial blackout within the next few months, was made last night and today by Lt. Col. Harry J. Patterson of Columbus, Army officer assigned to the office of civilian defense.

A surprise mobilization of defense units last night and inspection of records and the control center today highlighted the visit by Colonel Patterson. He came here as the representative of Major Charles Miller, Army liaison officer of the Fifth Service Command, with headquarters at Fort Hayes. He was expected to be here until mid-afternoon today.

Colonel Patterson will make his report direct to the Fifth Service command.

He had no comment to make to Marion civilian defense officials with regard to the mobilization. His report will be sent back to Marion by the Fifth Service Command.

Quaking Italy Strengthens Defense Against Invasion

Home Morale Reaches New Low as Americans and British Advance in Africa.

By RICHARD G. MASSOCK
Former Chief of the Rome bureau of The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13—Faced with its first threat of invasion in the war, a quailing Italy is hastily looking to its defenses against American and British troops, radio reports today indicated.

The obvious apprehension among the fascists was considered all the more significant by those acquainted with wartime Italy because an allied invasion still is believed here to be a long way off.

Italian morale, meanwhile, almost certainly has reached a new low as the first effect of allied occupation of French North Africa. This statement is based on first-hand knowledge of the fluctuations of Italian morale in the past, particularly during the ill-starred Greek campaign. It is backed by the Fascist propaganda ministry's broadcasts to the people.

"Cease Trembling" Ordered

As overheard by American listening posts, the Rome radio is exhorting Italians to cease their trembling. Dictator Benito Mussolini's Popolo D'Italia has called on Italians to hold fast (tener duro), a now familiar plea in times of stress on the internal front. The duce used it particularly a year ago when Italians began to grumble more or less openly at the pinch of stringent food rationing.

This is not to say that Italians are ready for revolt, although a rebellion might develop from a successful invasion.

Reports reaching government circles in Washington tell merely of a little more deterioration in morale since we left Rome last May, the same suppressed animosity toward the Germans and the same friendly feeling toward Americans.

With such a feeling prevailing, Hitler is said to be diverting German army divisions from Russia to Italy.

They would be the first German infantry to occupy Italy. The estimated 250,000 Germans on Italian soil thus far have been aviation units, complete with ground and supply crews, and sailors for German submarines in the Mediterranean, as well as gunners for Italian warships. Mussolini has been holding a million or more men under arms in Italy against invasion while his propagandists were attempting to laugh off the possibility.

Take Islands First

Presumably any allied invasion forces would try first to take the islands, Sicily, Sardinia and Corsica, that form unsinkable "aircraft carriers" for the Italian and German air forces on the invasion route.

The capture of Bizerte in Tunisia, on the other hand, would give the American and British warships and submarines a splendid naval base, one of the best in the world, with a deep, virtually land-locked lake reached by a narrow channel from the Mediterranean. And that base is only 150 miles from Sicily, and 300 miles from southern Italy, where military experts say the invasion mostly likely would be attempted.

MERCHANT SHIP SUNK

FIRST COLD WAVE MOVES IN ON OHIO

Drop of 20 to 25 Degrees Predicted for State.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 13—The first cold wave of the season moved into Ohio today.

George W. Mindling, meteorologist at the Columbus weather bureau, said temperatures would tumble as much as 20 to 25 degrees by tomorrow morning.

On the basis of recordings at the time the prediction was made, this would send readings to the low 20's in northwest Ohio, Mindling said, and to the middle and low 20's in the rest of the state.

The wave came in on a high wind that developed last night and continued through this morning. The wind is expected to diminish late today.

Waves 40 feet high crashed over breakwalls in Cleveland harbor as the wind at times blew with gale velocities over 40 miles per hour.

Giant waves smashing the Gordon Park beach at Cleveland forced police to erect barriers blocking traffic on Lakeshore boulevard from E. 72d street to East Boulevard. Traffic was detoured through the heights of the park.

Several ore carriers pounded by big waves took refuge behind Pelee island.

One freighter went aground in Sandusky harbor as high winds pushed the craft out of the channel. It was released several hours later.

Passenger traffic between Sandusky and Lake Erie Islands was halted with the motorship Mascot of the Neuman boat lines staying in harbor at Put-in-bay.

Waterfront piers along Sandusky bay were buffeted by waves four to five feet high, marine men said.

U. S. FORCES HELP SET UP TRAP FOR ROMMEL IN DESERT

By The Associated Press

The great 2,500 mile allied pincers sweep against the axis armies in North Africa was fast closing today as British troops captured historic Tobruk, 80 miles inside Libya, and indications arose that the axis might be quitting Tunisia.

From Agadir, westernmost landing place of American expeditionary forces in Morocco, to El Alamein, where the British Egyptian offensive started, the distance is approximately 2,500 miles covering the whole arc of North Africa.

American and British columns are now reported near or on the Tunisian border, 1,200 miles east of Agadir.

With the 305-mile British advance from El Alamein to Tobruk, the gap between the two armies thus stands at less than 1,000 miles.

British headquarters announced that the victorious British desert armies entered Tobruk this morning and the axis was in headlong flight.

They had previously captured Bardia, 15 miles inside Libya, and Halfaya ("Hellfire") pass on the Egyptian-Libyan frontier.

The German radio conceded the loss of the prize Mediterranean citadel within an hour after a special British war bulletin announced its capture.

This was second time the port, in axis hands since last June 22, had fallen to the British.

Nazi Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's broken armies were now apparently in wild flight as the British reported that waves of RAF planes swept low over retreating axis truck and troop columns fleeing from Tobruk to Gazala, 30 miles further west.

British mobile columns were reported in hot pursuit of the retreating Nazis, who previously had abandoned most of their Italian allies in the Egyptian desert in an attempt to make good their own escape.

Troop Planes Shot Down

British dispatches said six large Italian troop-carrying planes filled with German soldiers "flying north, probably from Tunisia," had been shot down into the sea by RAF fighters.

This conceivably could mean that the axis was abandoning Tunisia without a fight after landing from 2,000 to 3,000 air-borne troops and fliers in the French protectorate.

Anglo-American troop columns numbering perhaps as high as 150,000 men were reported near the Tunisian frontier, racing eastward in a synchronized sweep to help trap Rommel's armies fleeing from Egypt.

Tunisia, the key to the whole struggle for the western Mediterranean, lies between Algeria and Italian Libya.

Once in allied hands, it could serve as a jumping-off point for an invasion of the Italian islands of Sicily and Sardinia, Italian-occupied (French) Corsica or even the French mainland.

British headquarters said heavy RAF attacks were delivered on lines of vehicles moving along the coastal highway from Tobruk to Gazala, 30 miles farther west.

Other RAF planes hammered at remnants of Rommel's retreating Africa corps near Tobruk itself, the British announced.

Capture of Bardia meant that

WAR SUMMARY

AFRICA—British recapture Tobruk as Rommel continues flight west. U. S. troops near border of Tunisia.

EGYPT—Indications seen that axis may give up African positions without struggle.

PACIFIC—U. S. subs add 11 more Jap ships to toll. Enemy also loses 17 planes and faces rout in New Guinea.

RUSSIA—New Nazi offensive against Stalingrad reported checked. German Black Sea airdrome damaged in surprise raid.

Lieut. Gen. B. L. Montgomery's British 8th Army had advanced approximately 236 miles from the old El Alamein front, 80 miles west of Alexandria, the springboard for the great British offensive which began Oct. 23.

Meanwhile Adolf Hitler was moving with desperate urgency to guard the "under side" of Europe from threatened allied invasion.

Dispatches from Istanbul, Turkey, said the Germans were speedily reoccupying the Greek coast, heavily reinforcing the skeleton garrisons which have guarded those shores for months.

These reports said Nazi troops from the Russian front were pouring into southeast Europe and that 12 Nazi divisions passed through Rumania alone last week, heading toward Greek and Yugoslav points.

Other German legions were spreading along the French Mediterranean coast and along the French-Spanish frontier.

There was still no news on the exact whereabouts of the French fleet based at Toulon, France, although the Nazi-controlled Vichy radio insisted it was still in harbor and in French hands.

Admiral Jean Darlan, chief of all Vichy's armed forces before he was captured by American troops last Sunday night at Algiers, joined allied leaders in urging the French fleet to escape to Gibraltar.

At the same time, the Vichy radio acknowledged that Gen. Auguste Nogues, former commissioner general of allied-occupied French Morocco had joined Admiral Darlan in allied councils.

Indications Seen Axis May Yield Africa Without Fight

By The Associated Press

CAIRO, Nov. 13—Tobruk, abandoned by the Nazis in their headlong flight to stay ahead of their pursuers, was reoccupied by the British today amid the first indication that the axis may be yielding the last of North Africa without a struggle.

As the imperial Eighth army's westward race and the British-American thrust eastward from French North Africa swiftly closed around the remnants of the axis' forces, the British announced that RAF fighters had shot down six big Italian troop-carrying planes "flying north, probably from Tunisia," and filled with German troops.

This meant possibly that the Germans were pulling out of Tunisia, the last buffer between the allies in the west and Tripoli, the capital and final citadel of Italian Libya.

(An allied headquarters spokesman in London said he did not know definitely that the six destroyed transport planes—shot down presumably by long-range British fighters from Malta—meant a precipitous axis exit from Tunisia, but "I hope it does mean that."

(Other sources speculated that the troops shot down might have been technicians sent to Tunisia solely to destroy equipment which might help the allies.)

Hot After Rommel

Hot on Rommel's heels, the Eighth army picked up axis stragglers in the El Adem area, just inland from the Mediterranean south of Tobruk, and allied planes hounded the retreat, hitting road transport beyond Tobruk and sinking several supply-laden barges moving westward in the Mediterranean.

Allied air forces had a field day yesterday. Not one enemy fighter protected the enemy truck column, leaving the American and British fliers a clear field to do heavy damage.

Despite the vast scope of their air operations, including the assault on the transport planes and damage to a southbound schooner in the central Mediterranean, only one allied plane was missing.

Air scouts said the enemy still was moving westward from Tobruk as fast as his transport could carry him.

Much of his remaining stores apparently were left in Tobruk, destroyed and burned. When RAF raiders bombed the port Wednesday night they saw more than 100 fires, many in clusters

IBERIA NATIVE GETS ARMY APPOINTMENT

Col. Don McNeal To Head Air Force School.

Col. Don McNeal, a native of Iberia, will direct the Army air forces' weather training center, with facilities for 5,000 students, when it is opened in Grand Rapids, Mich. in about two months, according to an Associated Press report today from Washington.

It will be the first Army school devoted exclusively to weather training. It will train weather obrervers, weather teletype maintenance, weather forecasters and aviation meterologists.

Colonel McNeal, who has been in the Army more than 20 years, has been at the weather school at Chanute Field, Ill.

He is the youngest of six sons of the late Mr. and Mrs. John McNeal of Iberia and is a graduate of the Iberia High school. His father was a Civil war veteran and the G. A. R. post at Iberia was named for his uncle, Wallace McNeal, who was killed in the Civil war.

Colonel McNeal was graduated from the Ohio State university college of agriculture in 1913.

His four living brothers are Joseph William McNeal, a West Point man now retired and living in Washington, D. C., John H. McNeal, a prominent attorney in Cleveland, Ray McNeal of Lansing, Mich., and Dr. Neal McNeal, a veterinarian in Ansonia, O. A brother, Wallace, named for his uncle, died many years ago.

How Rocket Bomb Works

The rocket bomb, writes James L. H. Peck in "Air Trails Pictorial," incorporates the advantages of high level flying—penetrating power for bombs—with the advantage of low flying—accuracy. It does so by means of a steel cylinder in the rear of the bomb—a cylinder filled with powder which ignites with pink and blue flames and pushes the bomb through space, giving it added speed and penetrating force.

The Russians introduced the rocket bomb against the Nazis last November, and in the December issue of the U. S. Naval Institute Proceedings appeared a report indicating a rocket bomb could pierce armor twice as thick as could ordinary bombs.

Even a 25 pound rocket bomb can bust a tank, says Peck, if it has enough penetrating power to crash through the armor and explode inside. It can blow a tank crew to bits.

Axis scientists are working to develop their own types of rocket bomb. But thus far, thanks to the Soviets, Hitler's words about "secret weapons" are literally exploding in his face.

No. 11—Coast Guard and Merchant Marine

T... States coast guard, which patrols America's shores and ..., and the merchant marine, which "delivers the ... are seeking men to man boats.

... of the coast guard sweep the seaways on convoy ... patrol, troop ship escort and rescue missions. Along ... shoreline, coast guardsmen are on the alert against ...

... of democracy lengthens across the seven seas, an ... additional of- ... will be required ... steadily expanding ... marine.

... of 1943, nearly 2,000 new cargo vessels will be delivered by shipyards and it will be the merchant marine's job to guide these ships, carrying vital supplies, to the distant theaters of global war.

—The Coast Guard—

To enlist in the coast guard, you must be 17 to 54 years of age; have at least an eighth grade education, have 20-30 vision in each eye without glasses and a minimum of 20 good teeth, including four opposing molars and three opposing incisors.

Men under 21 must submit written consent of their parents or legal guardian, while married men should obtain the consent of their wives. Birth certificates or citizenship papers are required.

Men who have formerly served in the navy or coast guard may enlist in the coast guard with the rating held upon honorable discharge, or a higher rating, if they qualify.

Special consideration is given to former army and marine personnel and ratings are available to them if their previous service reveals special aptitudes useful to the coast guard.

Today all enlistments are in the coast guard reserve. They are for the duration of the war. Four months after enlistment at $50 a month, apprentice seaman are promoted to seaman, second class, with a pay increase.

Commissions

Candidates for commissions in the coast guard reserve must be high school graduates. Minimum ages for the respective commissions are: ensign, 20; lieutenant (j. g.), 25; lieutenant, 30, and lieutenant commander, 40.

Candidates for any of the commissions must have practical nautical experience. They must pass a written examination covering celestial navigation, piloting and dead reckoning, seamanship and English composition.

Their pay, authority and privileges while on active duty will be the same as coast guard officers. Reserves terms run until six months after the war ends.

Reserve Academy

Any man between 20 and 29 inclusive who has a college degree and can meet coast guard physical requirements may apply for a four month course at the coast guard academy. He must have taken two semesters of college mathematics.

One month of basic training at New London, Conn., will determine his fitness to complete the 90 day course which will qualify him for an ensign commission in the coast guard reserve.

Specialists

From time to time men who are qualified by technical or other special training are being awarded petty officer ratings. They fill such jobs as mechanics, architects and engineers. Men between 17 and 54 inclusive are eligible.

Where To Apply

Candidates for commissions, reserve academy appointments and specialist ratings should apply at the coast guard office in the lobby of the Keith bldg., 1621 Euclid ave. Cleveland.

Men desiring to enlist as apprentice seamen should apply at the coast guard recruiting office at the Mayfair Casino, 1513 Euclid ave, Cleveland.

—The Merchant Marine—

The training of officers and men for the U. S. merchant marine is supervised by the war shipping administration under a program divided into two systems: the cadet corps training system and the U. S. maritime service.

The Cadet Corps

The U. S. merchant marine cadet corps, established to train and educate young men for positions as deck and engine officers, combines academic preparation ashore and apprentice officer training aboard ship.

For appointment to the cadet corps, candidates must be between 18 and 23, unmarried and in good health. High school education is required. An overage allowance of one year is granted for each year of college.

The course, which normally takes three years, has been cut to 16 months for the duration. Cadets receive $65 a month, quarters and subsistence.

The Maritime Service

The U. S. maritime service operates seven training schools for prospective licensed officers. These stations are conducted for seamen with a minimum experience of 14 months who wish to qualify as third mates or third assistant engineers.

While in training for four months, men are rated as chief petty officers and paid $126 a month. Older or retired seamen who wish to renew their licenses may take refresher courses of four to six weeks.

Apprentice Seaman

Enrollees must be between 18 and 35 years of age and in sound health. Applicants under 21 must present consent of parents. The course lasts three months and enrollees are paid $50 a month.

The maritime service also maintains a training station for radio operators. The course runs six months and enrollees are paid $50 to $66 a month depending on previous training.

A specialized school trains cooks and bakers. Admission requirements are the same as for apprentice seaman. Enrollees are paid $50 a month during the three month course.

A number of training ships also are operated by the service so that enrollees in all branches may receive part of their instruction while on actual sea duty.

Where To Apply

All applications for cadet corps training should be addressed to the Supervisor, Merchant Marine Cadet Corps, Division of Training, War Shipping Administration, Washington, D. C.

Officer candidates should address applications to the Commandant, U S Maritime Service, Division of Training, War Shipping Administration, Washington, D. C.

A maritime service enrolling office for apprentice seamen is at 1720 Euclid ave, Cleveland.

STATE FARM CROP YIELDS INCREASE

Corn. Beets and Soybeans Pace Group of Seven.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 13—Huge corn, sugar beet and soybean crops paced seven Ohio farm products in yield gains over last year, while three showed slight declines, the federal state crop reporting service estimated today.

Nov. 1 reports indicated sugar beet production would reach 600,000 tons, an increase of more than 40 per cent over last year, corn 184,250,000 bushels, a gain of 23,270,000 bushels, and soybeans 27,761,000 bushels, more than twice the 1941 figure of 13,143,000 bushels.

Increased yields per acre were indicated for the three crops, sugar beets reaching 12.4 tons as against 11 last year, corn 55 bushels to 49.5 in 1941 and soybeans 25 bushels to 19.5. Finding storage space for soybeans continued a difficult problem for many farmers, the service asserted.

Other crops expected to gain were burley tobacco, commercial apples, grapes and pears. Decreases were anticipated for potatoes, buckwheat and cigar filler tobacco.

Burley tobacco—11,992,000 and 11,136,000 pounds; apples—6,384,000 and 6,000,000 bushels; grapes—22,400 and 14,800 tons; pears—442,000 and 392,000 bushels; potatoes—9,790,000 and 10,614,000 bushels; buckwheat—140,000 and 158,000 bushels, and cigar-filler tobacco—12,810,000 and 14,175,000 pounds.

Egg production reached 152,000,000 eggs last month, a gain of 3,000,000 over October, 1941, while milk output dropped three-tenths of a pound per cow per day to 14.6 pounds.

Capt. Fred E. Brake Joins Engineers at War Plant

A newcomer at the Scioto Ordnance Plant last week was Capt. Fred E. Brake, 45, who began new duties with the area engineer, Major Robert Lockridge. Capt. Brake was in charge of construction of Camp Edwards, a $38,000,000 project. He has been in the army since 1915 and his service includes the cavalry, quartermaster corps and corps of engineers. He was in the first World war and also saw service on the Mexican border in 1916. He and Mrs. Brake are parents of five children.

Ferguson Breaks With New Deal Over Probe

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 13 — Ohio's Democratic State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson broke with the New Deal today and expressed hope that the newly-elected Republican congressmen will "cut to pieces new deal bureaucracy."

Ferguson's break was prompted by President Roosevelt's refusal to countenance his request for an investigation of old age pension administration in Ohio shortly before the election.

A statement from the White House said Ferguson's request was "motivated by politics just before the gubernatorial election."

Ferguson said today he had been advised by Presidential Secretary Marvin McIntyre that his complaint that the Bricker administration was "playing politics" with old age pensions would not be investigated.

ARMY CALLS MARION PILOT

Richard E. Parish To Train for Work as Transport Plane Co-Pilot.

Out of 350 men who have been taking civil pilot training courses in 50 schools over the country, Richard E. Parish of 480 North Prospect street has been selected as one of six to go into advanced training leading to appointment as a transport plane co-pilot.

An enlisted man in the Army air corps reserves, Mr. Parish has been ordered to report to the Northeast Airlines at Burlington, Vt., on Nov. 23, for an eight-week course.

Finishing CAP Course

This week he is completing his civil pilot training course at Mansfield. He expects to have a week's leave before reporting in Vermont. The course at Mansfield has been in Army secondary acrobatics and cross-country flying. Wednesday night of this week he made his last cross-country flight in the course, stopping at the Marion airport enroute to Mansfield.

To be selected for the advanced course, he had to meet rigid requirements covering all phases of training, as well as to pass exacting physical and mental examinations.

At the Burlington port he will be instructed in instrument flying of two-motored transports and will be given the Link training course in blind flying.

Transport Duty.

As an Army pilot for the Northeast Airlines Parish will carry cargoes of men and supplies on huge transport planes from this country to others. After three months as a co-pilot he will be made pilot of his own plane.

Parish started flying a year ago last September at the Marion airport and prior to beginning training at Mansfield he was a member of the local civil air patrol unit.

A graduate of Harding High school and of Ohio Wesleyan university, he has been associated with his family in operating the Parish Dairy Co. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Parish of 723 Fort Church street.

He is a brother of Miss Pauline Parish who was inducted into the WAVES last week in Chicago, where she is employed. She is now subject to call for training. Miss Parish is the first Marion woman to enlist for service with the women's reserve to the U. S. Navy.

SMUTS SEES ALLIED DRIVE AIDING RUSSIA

Declares African Cleanup Already Helping Reds.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Nov. 13 - The smashing allied cleanup in North Africa already has brought needed relief to Russia, Field Marshal Jan Christiaan Smuts, premier of the Union of South Africa, said in a press conference today, adding that there now was a possibility of ending the war in 1944.

He said "very wonderful changes, the greatest of the last three years, but more spectacular than I expected" have taken place since the beginning of the double - barrelled British and American offensive in North Africa.

"There has been a vast change in our favor," he declared.

The 72-year-old veteran South African soldier said he expected that 1943 would be "the great offensive year" for the allies, and that if the allied offensive could be pressed, the war might end in 1944.

"The death blows may yet be struck from China," he said. "China is going to play a great part in this war, as far as the orient is concerned."

Former Editor of Tokyo Paper To Open Marion Forum Series Sunday

Jack Morrow To Speak at 2:30 P. M. in Central Jr. High Building.

Soldier, newspaper editor, foreign correspondent and student of international affairs, Jack Morrow will speak on "This Japan We Must Conquer" Sunday afternoon at 2:30 in Central Junior High school.

Presentation of Mr. Morrow will mark the opening of the 1942-43 season of the Marion Community forum. The forum program will be open to the public. There will be no admission charge.

Mr. Morrow was with the intelligence department of the Canadian army in Siberia during the days of the inter-Allied occupation.

Taking his discharge from the army at Vladivostok in December of 1919, he joined the staff of the Japan Advertiser in Tokyo. In May of the following year he accepted the position of editor of the Japan Times & Mail in Tokyo, being closely associated with the late J. R. Kennedy, who was regarded as one of the keenest Occidental students of Far Eastern affairs of the last half century.

Starting in 1923, Mr. Morrow was editor and manager of the Maui News, one of the leading newspapers of Hawaii.

For 17 years he played an important role in recording events that made history during the post-war period in the Far East.

"Yellow Wasp and Sugar Cane" is the title of a new book by Mr. Morrow. It deals with Pacific problems as studied in Japan and Hawaii. Another Morrow book, "My New America," is in the making.

intention of voting against the conference report.

Since June 30, youths have reached the age of 18 at a rate of 100,000 a month. How they will be registered has not been determined.

Debate Farm Deferments

Much of the argument over the bill centered on a provision directing local draft boards to defer necessary farm workers as long as they remain on the farm and until satisfactory replacements can be trained.

Senator Pepper (D), Florida, contended the provision would multiply man-power problems by "freezing" farm workers on their jobs without determination by a national agency that particular workers were best serving the war effort in their existing occupations.

However, the farm provision was retained in the bill without change.

Senator after senator took the floor to advocate a mandatory one-year training clause and to explain he was agreeing to its elimination only because of the strongly expressed will of the house and because the general staff had asked for a free hand in training and using the young fighting men.

The bill provides that 18 and 19-year-old high school students who receive induction notices during the last half of the academic year may obtain deferment until the end of the semester.

TEST

center can be complied with easily, William R. Martin, chief of the city's civilian defense organization, said at noon.

"There are a few bugs to be ironed out but it won't take a great deal of changing of our set-up," Mr. Martin said.

Mr. Martin estimated there was "at least" an 85 to 90 per cent turnout of units last night.

The mobilization, conducted entirely by telephone, came as a surprise to most of the members of the unit, according to Mr. Martin. A few persons knew that it was coming but the majority of volunteers had no advance warning.

A few "incidents" were arranged to test the alertness and training of the units.

Over at 9:15

The mobilization call went out at 7:50 and the "all clear" was not sounded until 9:15.

It was the longest mobilization period staged to date. However, some units were notified by the control center that it would not be necessary for them to stay at their posts the full 85 minutes and these groups were released after a tour of several of the posts by Colonel Patterson, Mr. Martin and other officials.

Colonel Patterson and the local defense officials returned to the control center and spent several hours going over details of the mobilization.

On duty for all or part of the mobilization were the air raid wardens, auxiliary firemen and policemen, the medical emergency corps, demolition squad, repair crew, ambulance corps and motorcycle corps.

Marion's civilian defense organization must reach specifications laid down by authorities before a blackout can be staged or before the civilian defense members can be considered as ready for any type of emergency service, Mr. Martin said this morning.

TOO MANY FALSE ALARMS

SAN DIEGO, Cal.—Dim-outs are costing the fire department dearly because of the increased number of false alarms sent in during such periods. In replying to one of these, one fire engine crashed, causing $3,000 worth of damage to fire equipment.

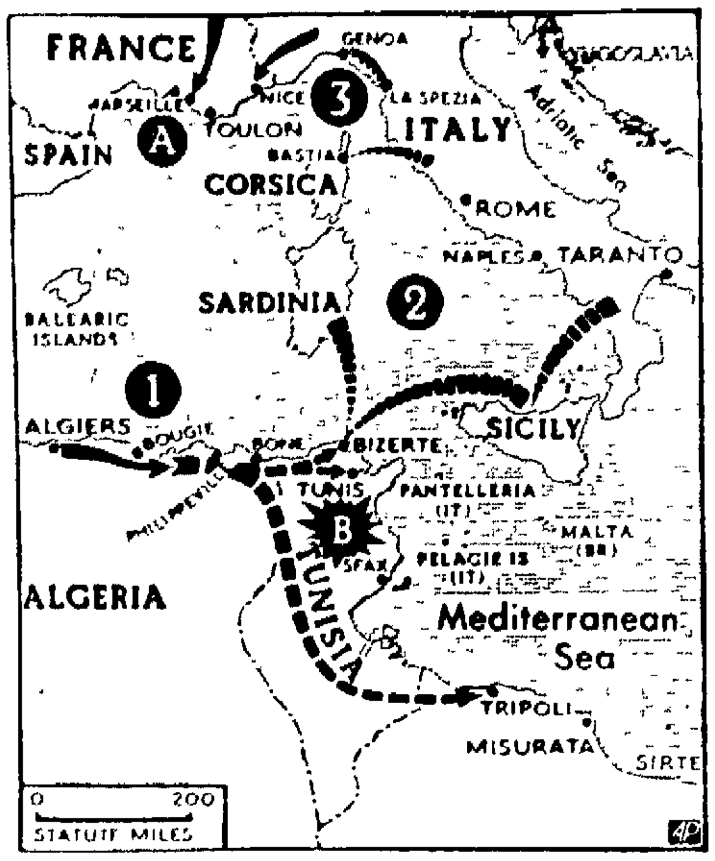
AIRMEN BATTLE FOR MEDITERRANEAN



With the RAF smashing at an airdrome near Tunis (B), the first blow in a gigantic air battle to gain control of the Mediterranean corridor was struck. Bombing came as U. S. and British land forces raced across Algerian sands (1) toward Tunis and Bizerte, with Libya another goal. Axis reinforcements were shifted around the area (2) and Italy sent troops into Corsica. Italian troops reached Nice (3) and an arc of the vulnerable Italian coast was fortified. German forces reached southern French coast but said Toulon (A) would not be occupied.

By The Associated Press

IRONTON, O., Nov. 13—Indictments charging second degree murder were returned by the county grand jury against Mrs. Alma Bruce, 32, and her mother, Mrs. Letha Runyon, 74. They were accused of shooting to death Mrs. Bruce's husband, Warren, 37, at nearby Deering.

REGISTRATION FOR GAS CARDS TO START NOV. 21

Nov. 22 Deadline for Turning in Tires.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Nov. 13 — The regional office of price administration said yesterday registration for supplemental gasoline rationing books would start Saturday, Nov. 21, and warned that Nov. 22 remains the deadline for turning in "sixth tires."

The OPA announced earlier that registrations for the basic "A" cards would be held in schoolhouses Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of next week, and said today applications for additional essential mileage would be made from Nov. 21 through Nov. 30 "at special sites separate from the regular local war price and rationing board offices."

Although nationwide gasoline rationing was postponed from Nov. 22 to Dec. 1, the deadline for turning in extra tires to Railway Express agencies "has not been changed," OPA said, adding:

"This means two things: It is illegal to possess more than five tires for one auto owned after Nov. 22, and that mileage rations will not be issued for any car, until the owner has turned in his extra spares."

GIVE LABOR ELBOW ROOM, C. OF C. TOLD

WPB Official Declares Workers Must Share Responsibility.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 13—Labor must be given elbow room to "turn loose its full power in the war production program," Clarence Bolds, war production board official, told the Ohio Chamber of Commerce today.

"It cannot do the job there is to be done if it is hamstrung," asserted the chief of the planning unit of the war production drive. "A certain freedom of movement must be allowed. Labor cannot be an unwanted partner in government. Its participation must be whole and complete."

Bolds said certain "non-labor groups * * * have impeded the contribution labor has wanted to make. These groups have been afraid that labor's full participation might jeopardize their own interest."

He termed the establishment of a labor requirements committee by WPB Chief Donald Nelson a start toward labor's aim of broadening its "contribution into the actual workings of the production program."

U. S. Sen. Millard E. Tydings, Democrat of Maryland, told the Chamber last night that war had endangered the American way of life. He suggested a three-pronged program to eliminate the peril:

"Make sure all who occupy high governmental positions of power where policy is made and administered must be imbued and have a deep affection for our basic Americanism.

"Second, governmental appropriation, taxation, bureaucracy and personnel should be no larger than is necessary to support our armed forces and carry on the absolute essentials at home.

"Third, when this war shall have passed, it might be well for our people to adopt a requirement that hereafter in times of peace no congress shall be permitted to make an appropriation for which it does not have the necessary taxation to pay for that appropriation, either currency or within a period of not more than 25 years."

The chamber indorsed the pay-as-you-go plan of federal income tax collection and its directors opposed the $25,000 salary limitation approved by President Roosevelt.

Confidence Will Help

ALL SIGNS indicate, and Secretary of War Stimson confirms, that the occupation of French Africa was one of the best coordinated efforts of the war, comparable to the German occupation of France and the Low Countries in 1940.

This demonstration of coordination of United States forces within themselves and coordination with British forces in Africa has done a world of good for confidence here at home. The feeling of frustration that was deepened by palpable evidence of bad planning in disastrous campaigns on other fronts has been the most dangerous threat to the people's morale in both Britain and the United States. For the first time in the war it has been proved that Allied leadership is capable of performing as brilliantly as the leadership of the enemy. The resourceful Rommel is in serious trouble in Africa, and this time it is the Germans who must improvise and explain.

Meanwhile, no thoughtful watcher of the news is forgetting that the real test of coordination still lies ahead. In the ingenious phrase of Prime Minister Churchill, this is not the beginning of the end but only the end of the beginning. The enemy still must be met and destroyed in Africa. When that has been done, the battle must be carried to him on the continent. Circumstances have given the leaders of the Allied forces an assignment of unprecedented difficulty, but they have been given, also, weapons of unprecedented range and power. Their mastery of the kind of warfare on which the Germans relied to win a quick, short war will decide the issue.

Confidence will help.

Victory Coalition

EARLY this year when the chairman of the Democratic national committee said that election of a congress "hostile to the President" would be almost as bad as a major military defeat, Mr. Roosevelt, himself, retorted that what the country needed in wartime was congressmen who would support the government and had a record of supporting it in emergencies, irrespective of party.

The new congress is solidly pledged to support the government's war measures, irrespective of party. Democrats and Republicans alike asked for election on a basis of ability to contribute to the war; winners and losers alike campaigned on their patriotism. The result has been to form a victory coalition unprecedented in national history.

But it is not a political coalition. That is fortunate. It is well to be on guard against politicians when they start talking about coalitions, because what they usually are hoping to do is take the opposition into their camp on their own terms. If the Democrats won a mandate to continue the New Deal in 1936, then it is plain that the Republicans won a mandate in this year's election to resist the aspects of the New Deal that voters like least.

It is likely that neither party will be able to command a majority on any strictly party issue; the division is too close. But on any clearly national issue, it is reasonable to believe that the administration will have the benefit of a coalition with only one objective—Victory. Everything else is beside the point from now on.

"The Yanks Are Coming"

WHAT every Frenchman — what every European—knows is that the United States claimed no territory after World war I.

When the international debt structure broke down, this country initiated a moratorium on repayments of the money European nations had borrowed to save themselves from Germany.

Subsequently, it abandoned hope of ever collecting what was owing to it and met Germany's renewed threat of conquest with the lend-lease act, which gave beleaguered nations supplies in return for their unsecured promise of reciprocal dealing in the future.

This is America's answer to the frantic charge of Nazi propagandists that the "Yanks are coming" this time as conquerors, instead of liberators. It is an answer of past deeds to confirm current pledges. The record is clear, and so is America's conscience. The United States has no territorial ambitions in this war.

Ever since World war I the most potent single fact in international politics has been the strength that the United States is capable of bringing to bear on the struggle of other nations for right of self-determination.

The probability that the Yanks would be coming if Germany went on the rampage a second time has been Europe's chief hope of defense. Germany's gamble that the United States would not fight again for the right of self-determination and its decision that Russia could not fight effectually are the mistakes that are going to result in its defeat.

Hitler knows it, his generals know it, every informed German knows it and every Italian knows it. The Japanese know it and so do all the peoples who, willingly or not, have been helping the Axis.

Hitler Occupation of Rest of France Seen as Military Mistake.

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13—Hitler's excuse that he wanted the rest of France, because we intended to invade it now, was pure gravy.

Our North African campaign would not have been planned the way it was, if the south of France had been one of our immediate goals.

He gave away his correct analysis of our intentions when he rushed reinforcements to Tunisia to bolster the slim Nazi and Italian Marine force there. His real problem was to keep us from breaking through and cutting off the escape of Rommel's army from North Africa.

The Nazi seizure of France was apparently the only prestige-gathering move left in Hitler's dwindling bag of tricks. It was a military mistake. All he did was commit himself to defense of more territory, thereby weakening his stand of arms in the lowlands, and reserves for the Russian front.

Here was the only thing left that he could get without fighting, but to take it, he drove the French into our camp, ruined their show of resistance in North Africa, undertook the obligation to feed and maintain order over a few million more hostile people.

The hourglass in Berlin is running low.

Outdated Predictions

The December American magazine article by Harry Hopkins is being handed around Washington as an advance warning of how the government intends to uproot most citizens and transplant them involuntarily into the final war effort.

Often such unofficial presidential authorities as Hopkins and Mrs. Roosevelt write, as their personal opinions, what the White House has in mind to do. Their articles are supposed to prepare the public mind, and obviously this is what Hopkins intended this time.

But the magazine was prepared weeks ago, and the article written perhaps weeks before that. Since then, many if not all of Hopkins thunderous expectations have been outdated by events.

For instance, he predicates his picture partly on the possibility of the British losing the Suez, Russia surrendering and America being invaded.

Also, there has been an election since he wrote—and since that election Mr. Roosevelt has announced nothing would be done about a selective draft service for workers until after the first of the year. Union labor, too, has pushed its pressure against the draft right upon the President's desk.

What Hopkins foretold in the magazine is, therefore, in abeyance at least. He predicted a $10,000-a-year-man might be thrust into a $3,000 job (maybe the treasury will have something to say about indispensable tax revenues before that is done.)

Citizen Draft Boards

He prophesied citizen draft boards would be established, like army draft boards, in all districts. (It is fairly well agreed at the top now that a single draft organization for industry and army should do whatever is done.)

"Able bodied persons will be given a wide range of choice as to what they will do," he wrote. "But if they don't move voluntarily, their manpower organization will direct them to a specific job." (Legislation for this would have to be authorized by congress and the need shown.)

He estimated half the workers would be taken out of the paper, printing and publishing industry, one-third from food, half from garages and filling stations, nearly all from clocks, jewelry, and so on. (Congress is already raising the question of increasing the work week to 48 hours, instead, and Mr Roosevelt's labor-management committee has recommended training women, students, unemployed, etc to see if these steps will not solve the problem.)

Mr. Hopkins, authoritative as he is, may not have had the right dope.

Polls

Dr. Gallup, the poller, is backing up Vice President Wallace's unique argument that the election was a victory for the New Deal, saying that the record number of voters who stayed away from the polls were New Dealers, and that if they all had voted, the New Deal would have won its usual victory.

This reasoning may appeal to Dr. Gallup, because he had the worst prediction on the national election of any I saw published.

He was worse than the official Democratic claims. The Democrats expected to lose 10 to 15 house seats, but Dr. Gallop's forecast (Oct. 31) said:

"The chief surprise in next Tuesday's election will be the continued strength of the Democrats nationally, as shown in the congressional races. The Democratic party will have virtually the same majority of seats in the house the next two years as they have had since 1938."

This has caused a couple of Republican senators to talk about a congressional investigation of polls.

But where Dr. Gallup's explanation of this error proves itself false is in the New York State returns (where his poll of Dewey's vote was almost exact.)

The Republican vote for congressmen in New York City was 8 per cent larger than in 1938, while Dewey's vote was only 3 per cent over 1938.

Also, the Dun survey shows the national loss in the vote of Democratic candidates for congress was only 1 to 2 per cent below 1938.

Few non-partisan political experts will believe the election result was anything less than it seemed to be.

Allied Shipping Magic

African Invasion May Double Capacity of Merchant Marine.

By JOHN GROVER

IF THE north African campaign is a success, as now seems indicated, Lieut. Gen. Dwight (Ike) Eisenhower will go down as a "shipbuilder" whose exploits take precedence over the miracles performed by Henry J. Kaiser.

In one swoop, Gen. Eisenhower will have virtually doubled the size of the whole Allied merchant marine. The importance of this dramatic easing of the critical shipbuilding problem to all fronts cannot be overestimated.

Shipping has been the really desperate focal point of our whole war effort, by official admission. The terrific distances involved in moving supplies to the southwest Pacific, to the India-Burma theater and to the Middle East have had the war planners gray-headed with worry. Despite magnificent achievements by U. S. shipbuilder, the need for cargo space has always been ahead of available bottoms.

The American landings in north Africa, if expanded to actual control of the south shore of the Mediterranean, mean a whole fleet of "new" vessels created overnight for the further garrisoning and supplying of all world fronts.

Just Arithmetic

It sounds like magic on a global scale, but actually it's a matter of simple arithmetic.

The closing of the Mediterranean as a regular military supply route vastly complicated the problem of Allied munitions and troop transport. It required from five to seven times as many ships to carry the same quantity of goods and men around Africa to the Middle East as over the route through the Mediterranean.

It is something over 13,000 miles from England around the Cape of Good Hope to Suez. It is somewhat more than 2,000 miles from England to north Africa. The distance from the U. S. east coast to Suez is 14,000-plus miles, but from the U. S. to Casablanca is 3,200 miles.

Control of the south shore of the middle sea would permit use of it again as a supply lane. With Allied air bases scattered along that shore, the convoys could proceed under a canopy of planes with less risk than Russian-bound convoys to Murmansk now run.

In addition to a saving of an expert-estimated 75 per cent in the number of ships needed to service the Allied troop-munitions pool in the Middle East, the requirements of the England-India run would be cut one-third.

Supply Expansion

What this means to the furtherance of Allied offensives is obvious. Scores on scores of freighters would be released for supplementing the present service of supply to Australia, to Russia and to Alaska, all three of which have suffered by reason of ship shortages which did not permit the movement of arms already fashioned and waiting at dockside for transport.

There is evidence that the surprise offensive had this relief of overworked Allied shipping as its primary purpose. The strategic import of the campaign, in its relation to future offensives directed at the Axis southern exposure, cannot be minimized. The immediate advantages in shipping, however, will be the first great gain if Gen. Eisenhower completes his mission.

From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Sunday, Nov. 13, 1932.

Billy Brock, pioneer pilot and air mail flier, one of the first to fly across the Atlantic, died in Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. David Scott of East Center street were visiting Mr. and Mrs. Forest Grofos of Mansfield.

Frank Phillians and J. A. Stafford of Mobile, Ala., were visiting the former's brother, Mayor W. C. Phillians of East Church street. Stafford was U. S. marshal for the southern district of Alabama and Phillians was his deputy.

Twenty-one new members were enrolled in the First United Brethren church in services that opened a week's series of meetings. The pastor, Rev. Carl V. Roop, preached in the morning and Rev. E. M. Burroughs of Cardington gave the sermon at the night services.

A party of 30 women, making up a large part of the East Side Mother Singers, sang in the Midwestern Choir association annual autumn festival held in the Covenant church at Springfield.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Monday, Nov. 13, 1922.

Democratic party circles in Washington were reported considerably agitated over the opinion expressed by Woodrow Wilson that the League of Nations was not a dead issue so far as the United States was concerned and that it would likely crop up as one of the major campaign issues in 1924.

Effort of the Japanese people in the western part of the United States near and along the Pacific coast to gain the right to become naturalized citizens of the United States, which has been in progress over long period of years, met with failure in an adverse ruling by the United States supreme court.

Mr. and Mrs. Phil Rea and family of Irey avenue and Miss Christine Rieck of East Center street motored to Findlay where they were guests of Miss Rieck's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rieck.

Marion's "Footlight Follies" opened a week's engagement at the Grand theater with presentation of a musical comedy, "Polly's Pa". At the Marion the feature picture was "The Prisoner of Zenda" with a cast headed by Lewis Stone, Alice Terry, Robert Edeson, Stuart Holmes, Ramon Navarre, Barbara LaMar and Edward Connelly.

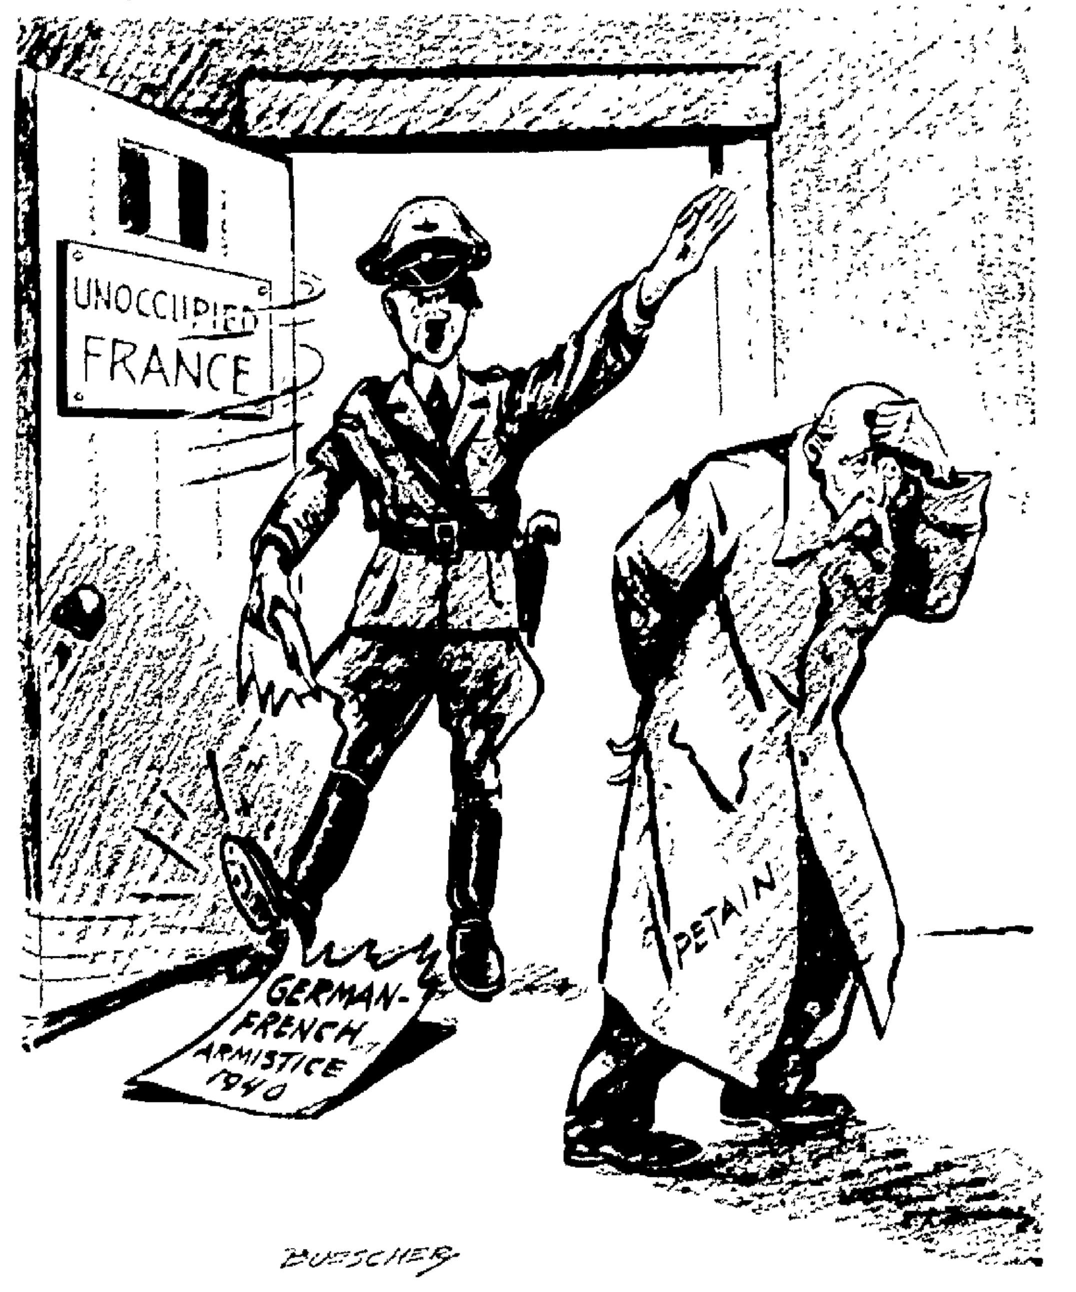
Miss Viola Rose Kieffier and Raymond D. Keeler, both of Marion, were united in marriage by Rev. H. G. Trumbauer on East Church street.

Mrs. Eugene Dickson was elected delegate and Mrs. E. T. Smart alternate to the district meeting of the Ohio Federation of Women's clubs by the Current Topic club when it met with Mrs. D. H. Harvey on South Vine street.

Mrs. J. B. Hoagland was hostess to the Delphian club at her home on Barnhart street.

The city was in its era of "deficit financing" which eventually led to a debt of more than $1,000,000. At a meeting of city council a resolution was adopted authorizing borrowing of $20,184 to pay hydrant rentals, street lights and salaries of patrolmen, firemen and library employes for the period ending Oct. 31. It was explained that this was necessary because money then coming in for taxation had to be used to pay off former loans for operating expenses. At the close of the year it was expected that bonds would be issued to take up the deficiency notes.

STILL ANOTHER "SCRAP OF PAPER"



How To Prove You Were Legally Born

Twentieth Century Babies Have the Least Trouble.

The necessity of possessing a birth certificate has puzzled, inconvenienced and annoyed many persons who previously had neglected this important matter. This article is a digest of information compiled by Randall M. Ruhlman and Spencer D. Corlett of the legislative department of the Cleveland Chamber of Commerce.

MOST favored group in the birth certificate sweepstakes set in motion by wartime regulations and various federal and state laws is the young, particularly those who have remained in the communities where they were born. For them, obtaining a birth certificate is a simple matter of going to the proper place and making the proper request.

But for persons born before 1900 and for those who have moved from the states in which they were born, a birth certificate is frequently an elusive prize. The state where they were born may not have had compulsory birth registration. The physician who attended them at birth may have neglected to make a report. The public records of the community may have been destroyed by fire. Clerks may have erred in setting down the information.

Gradually, order is being brought out of chaos. There are certain steps in the procedure to be followed. First, communicate with the proper authority in the state of birth to learn whether or not a certificate is on file, but don't be surprised by delay. Millions of other persons are doing the same thing. To expedite handling, inclose return postage and self-address envelope. Give name in full, as it was originally, or if changed since, specify the change. Give parents' full names and their place of residence when the birth certificate was filed.

Most states have established procedure for dealing with errors in the event a birth certificate is obtained that is not satisfactory, but this is a bridge to be crossed when it is reached. Half the battle has been won when any certificate at all is obtainable.

IF no record of birth has been filed, or if no record can be furnished, relief is available through a delayed birth certificate. Most states require a court determination of facts to permit the filing of a delayed certificate and want one or all of the following:

An affidavit from the doctor or midwife who was present at the birth.

An affidavit of the mother or father or some other older person who has knowledge of the birth.

Documentary evidence, such as family Bible entries, health department records, physicians' office records, church records, historical records, insurance policies issued more than six years before 1941, published birth notices, baby books or birth announcements, school enrollment records, military records, civil service records and lodge records.

If no birth certificate or delayed certificate can be obtained, the only other alternative is the federal census records, obtained through the bureau of the census in the department of commerce, Washington, D. C. The census bureau estimates, incidentally that 60,000,000 Americans are without documentary proof of their citizenship.

To summarize, the birth certificate situation is that sooner or later every person who can get one probably will need it, so don't put it off. The social security system alone makes a birth certificate imperative for every person participating in it; there is no other way to establish claims.

In Ohio, birth certificates are available in all counties from 1908 and in most counties much earlier than that. For records before 1908, it is best to write to the probate court in the county of birth. After 1908, the certificate may be obtained from the state department in Columbus.

Aided by Funerals

By International News Service

SOMEWHERE IN AUSTRALIA—A keen interest in funerals is not the accepted way to gain promotions in the United States Army, but it did the trick for Sergeant Fred Calloway, of Folla, Indiana.

A mortician before joining the army, Calloway became interested in Australian methods, spending much of his free time visiting funeral parlors and attending funerals.

After a thorough, if somewhat grim, investigation, of the art of undertaking in Australia, Private Calloway finally pronounced judgment for the benefit of the local press: Australian funerals were not conducted with sufficient pomp and ceremony.

The newspaper paragraph caught the eye of his commanding officer, and Calloway was sent for, promoted to technical sergeant, and appointed mortician for his unit.

The army, he says, isn't such a bad place after all!

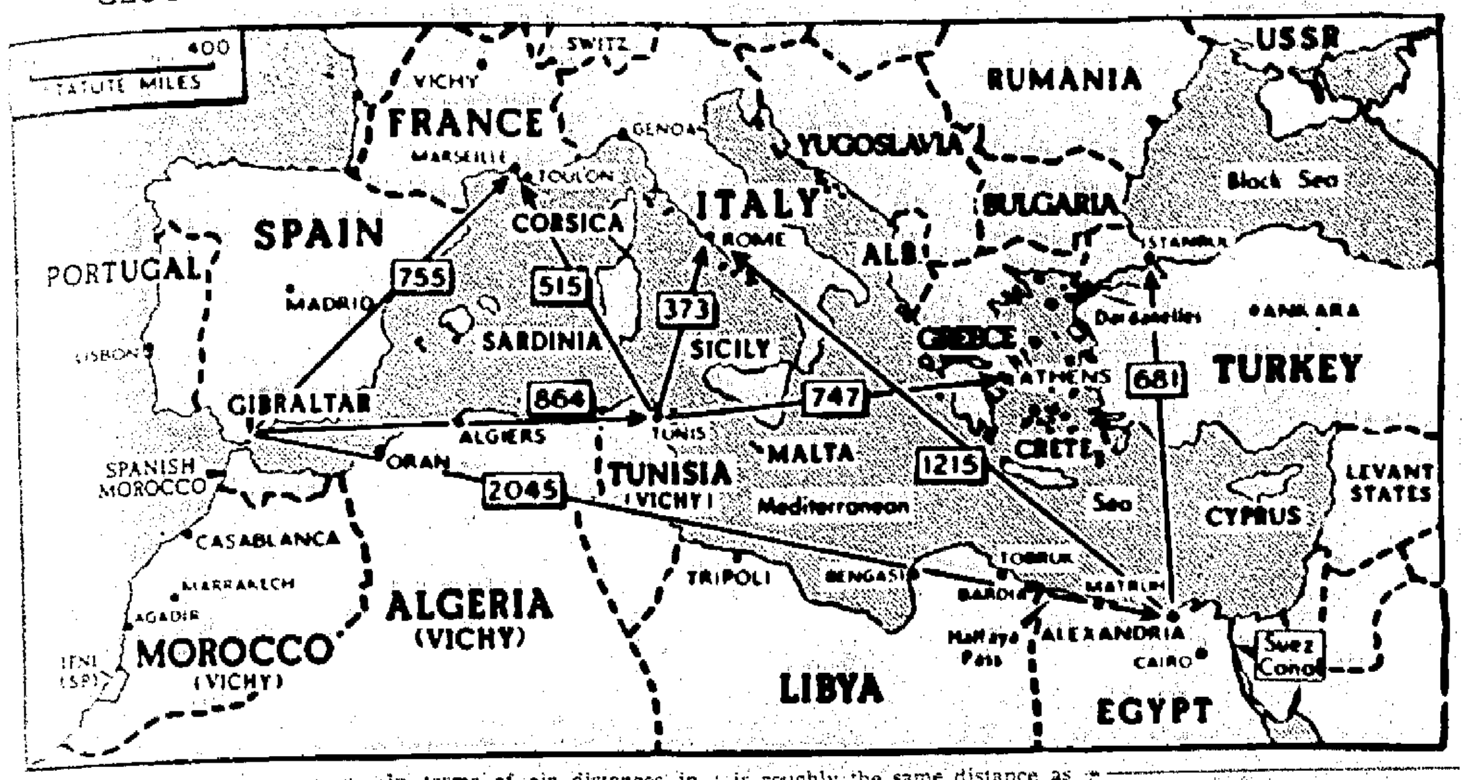
GEOGRAPHY OF MEDITERRANEAN WAR FRONT MEASURED IN AIR MILES



In terms of air distances in statute miles, this map shows typical distances involved in the vital Mediterranean war theater. From Gibraltar to Tunis, for example, is farther than from New York to Chicago. From Alexandria to Rome is roughly the same distance as from Cleveland to Denver. REPLY FROM FRANCO SATISFACTORY TO U.S.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13—President Roosevelt said today he had received a very satisfactory reply from General Francisco Franco, head of the Spanish state, to his message assuring Spain that the American expedition to North Africa was in no way directed against Spanish territory.

The President, talking at his press conference, gave no details of the Franco reply and said also he had no information whether the bey of Tunis had answered his message requesting permission to send troops across French Tunisia.

In his message to Franco at the outset of the North African campaign, the Chief Executive not only assured the general that the mission was in no shape, manner or form directed against the government or people of Spain, but expressed the belief that the Spanish government and people "wish to maintain neutrality and to remain outside the war."

Advices from reliable European sources said today that Spanish foreign policy, hitched to a program of pro-axis non-belligerency when Adolf Hitler was winning victory after victory, has veered suddenly toward strict neutrality as a result of the startling developments of the past week.

DRIVER FINED AFTER CRASH WITH TAXI

Given $100 Penalty on Drunk Driving Charge.

E. R. Parker, 35, of 318 North Greenwood street suffered minor head injuries and lacerations in an auto collision shortly after midnight Thursday morning on East Center street. Following an investigation by city police, Parker was charged with driving while intoxicated.

Parker was operator of a car which collided head on with a Safety Cab Co. car driven by Norman D. Showers, 27, of 283 Niles street. Showers escaped uninjured. Both autos were damaged badly, police reports indicated.

Howard Cecil, 48, also of the North Greenwood street address, who was riding with Parker at the time of the accident, suffered a fractured jaw. Both were taken to City hospital. Parker later was turned over to city police.

Parker appeared in municipal court yesterday for arraignment. He pleaded guilty and was fined $100 and costs and his driving rights were suspended for six months.

NEW DEMANDS MADE FOR LONGER WEEK

Congress Hears New Request for Suspension of Limits.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13—Demands for suspension of the 40-hour week rose to a new pitch in congress today amid charges that the nation's labor resources were not being used efficiently.

Senator Byrd (D-Va) told reporters he believed the problem of speeding supplies to a large American expeditionary force in North Africa had tremendously increased the need of obtaining the maximum production he felt could be reached only by lengthening the work week.

"The time has come when we must press the fighting stronger and stronger every minute," Byrd declared. "We have to utilize the manpower strength of the country to the fullest extent and we are not doing that with the 40-hour week.

Byrd stressed that he was not advocating the abolition of overtime pay in war industries.

Agreeing generally with this thesis, Senator Taft (R-Ohio) said he thought it might be well to suspend the premium overtime pay provisions of the 40-hour week for essential civilian industries where labor already was becoming short and employers could not afford to pay wage increases because of price ceilings on their products.

Taft said he believed the manpower shortage was less critical than it had been made to appear.

PEDESTRIAN INJURED WHEN HIT BY AUTO

Accident Occurs on North Main Street.

Lewis Northrop, 57, of North Prospect street, an employe of the Hunkin-Conkey Construction Co., was treated at City hospital last night for cuts and bruises suffered when he was struck by a car driven by Robert Lee Chandler, 18, of 379 Girard avenue.

According to the state highway patrol report, the accident occurred at 11:45 p. m. on North Main street just beyond the corporation limits. Mr. Northop was crossing the highway and was struck by the Chandler car, which was traveling north.

Mr. Northop suffered a scalp laceration, cuts on the face and abrasions on his legs at the knees. He was released from the hospital after being treated. He was taken to the hospital in the M. G. Gunder & Sons ambulance.

CAMP CALLAN, Cal.—Pvts. Lee Rasco of Denton, Tex., and William A. Brooks, of Sherman, Tex., have established a new record for pitching tents in 55 seconds starting from the instant the order is given until the tent is pitched and they are standing at attention with a look of nonchalance on their faces as though nothing had happened. The latter, they say, is the hardest part of it.

British Avenge Tobruk Disaster in Five Months

(This column, conducted as a daily feature by DeWitt Mackenzie, is written today by Glenn Babb. Mr. Mackenzie is touring the war zones.)

It has taken the British Eighth army less than five months to avenge the disaster of Tobruk. Last June 22 the fall of that already legendary fortress to Rommel's armored columns was announced, the climax of half a year of almost unrelieved allied defeat. The army of the Nile, leaving some 35,000 prisoners in enemy hands, was fleeing toward Alexandria, and the axis gloated in the prospect of an early breakthrough in the Middle East, the stroke they hoped would destroy the British empire. Mussolini had his uniforms furbished for a triumphal entry into Cairo.

But the Eighth army, under new command, reinforced by fresh British units and aided in no small degree by help from the United States, turned, held and slowly won the upper hand.

Caught between two armies, it would seem Rommel has little chance of repeating the British turnabout at El Alamein. It is difficult to see where he expects to find even momentary refuge.

There has been a growing conviction that an axis Dunkerque was in the offing. Evidence comes today that it may already have begun. General Alexander's Cairo communique reports the shooting down into the sea of six Italian troop carrying planes flying northward over the Mediterranean full of German troops, probably from Tunisia. It it still too early, however, to assume that the battle for Tunisia, which yesterday appeared to be taking form, will not be fought. Hitler has too much at stake there to let control of the central Mediterranean narrows go by default.

In this second World war the British empire has suffered three great military disasters, symbolized by Dunkerque, Singapore and Tobruk, named in order of time. The last has been avenged; the process of wiping out the bitter memories of the others is moving steadily forward.

and brilliant white like burning explosives.

(The Germans acknowledged that they had set the torch thoroughly to all they had to leave at Tobruk, but that an undisclosed amount of artillery and armored equipment was saved for "later on" where Rommel has decided on a last stand.)

The communique did not elaborate on the indication that the axis was fleeing from Tunisia, but only yesterday allied sources had reported that German reinforcements were being flown into the French protectorate to meet the combined American-British force rapidly approaching it from Algeria.

Place of Stand Not Known

With Tobruk, a vital and normally defensible position, already in British hands there was no indication where Nazi Field Marshal Erwin Rommel might try—if at all—to halt his retreat.

The British already have pushed him back 300 miles from the El Alamein line and virtually with each mile his manpower and armored strength have dwindled under ceaseless land and air attack.

British headquarters announced that the Eighth army had occupied Bardia, 230 miles west of El Alamein and about 15 miles deep in Libya from the Egyptian border, and that allied planes were hammering at Rommel's transport near Tobruk.

Then, indicative of the furious pace of the chase across the African desert, a special communique soon after made the terse announcement:

"Tobruk is reported in our hands this morning."

Its harbor, important as a source of sea-borne supply for the forces in the desert, is the chief territorial prize of the battle over the sandy wastes.

This was the second time it had fallen to the British.

It was captured first from its Italian defenders in General Sir Archibald P. Wavell's 1940-41 drive across Africa. When the battle swayed back, the axis counter-drive was compelled to detour around it and it stayed in British possession for 17 month. For eight of them, an heroic British and allied garrison withstood siege until Rommel's troops stormed into the port last June 22.

Tries To Save Something

Unable to reorganize his forces for a stand, so closely was he pursued by the British Eighth army, Rommel was reported moving supplies and equipment westward across the Libyan desert from Tobruk in an effort to save something from the debacle.

The last major obstacle barring the Eighth army's sweep into Libya was removed with the fall of Halfaya ("Hellfire") pass on the Egyptian side of the frontier on Armistice day.

New Zealand infantry, supported by tanks, over-ran this strong natural position—much fought-over in previous campaigns—within five minutes after launching their attack. The operation resulted in the capture of an additional 600 prisoners, mostly Italians who appeared bitter at having been abandoned by the Germans.

"The Germans ran away, leaving us," their spokesman said. "We did not even fire a shot. We are glad to be out of the war."

The British said that with the capture of the Halfaya garrison the only remaining axis troops in Egypt were prisoners, including nine Italian generals.

FRANCO EXPERIENCES CHANGE OF HEART

Spanish Dictator Not So Enthusiastic for Nazis.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 13—Spanish foreign policy, hitched to a program of pro-axis non-belligerency when Adolf Hitler was winning victory after victory, has veered suddenly toward strict neutrality as a result of the startling developments of the past week, advices from reliable European sources said today.

Faced with the sudden rise of allied power in the Mediterranean, Generalissimo Francisco Franco apparently has experienced an overnight change of heart and is trying desperately to hold his nation to a middle-of-the-road course, declared these sources whose identity cannot be disclosed.

On the north, the Spaniards now have nothing between them and the Nazis except a thin chain of mountains.

On the south lies Gibraltar and, just beyond, the powerful American and British forces which have seized control of French north Africa.

To complicate the situation, Spain's Balearic islands off the east coast of the Iberian peninsula have suddenly assumed a position of vast strategic importance to the belligerents.

REPORT SINKINGS

By The Associated Press

BERLIN (FROM GERMAN BROADCASTS), Nov. 13 — The German high command reported today the sinkings of a British cruiser, a destroyer and five transports and damage to 18 other allied ships by axis U-boat and plane attacks off North Africa. (There was no allied confirmation of these enemy claims).

SET THE STAGE

It is revealed by the U. S. war department that the quick fall of some French North African colonies was due in a large measure to the daring submarine trip Maj. Gen. Mark Clark (above) made to the colonies a few days before the U. S. offensive began. The general arranged a secret tendezvous with high French army and naval officers and persuaded them to help deliver the French territory into United States hands. As a reward for his brilliant feat President Roosevelt has recommended Clark for promotion to a lieutenant general.

Kiwanians and Wives at Pleasant Tp. Dinner Hear Soybean Plant Manager

Ladies' Night Party Held at School; Group of Students Furnishes Musical Numbers.

W. E. Flumerfelt, manager of Old Fort Mills, Inc., was guest speaker at a "ladies' night" dinner meeting of the Marion Kiwanis club Thursday night at the Pleasant Township school. More than 100 members and guests attended. The event was sponsored by the agricultural committee, of which E. C. Streeth is chairman.

Mr. Flumerfelt talked on "The Romance of the Soy Bean," tracing the history of soy beans from the pre-Christian era to the present. He said the beans and oils are vital not only in actual conduct of the war but on the home nutrition front. He also spoke of the importance soy beans will have in the post-war regime.

Ralph Carhart was program chairman and Harold J. Grigsby was the presiding officer.

Girls on Program

Milton Baker, director of music at the Pleasant school, presented a sextet of girls in two groups of songs. In the sextet were Barbara Withrow and Alicia Zachman, first sopranos, Naomi Mautz and Rhea Jean McClure, second sopranos, and Dorothy Nickelson and Marjory Augenstein, altos. Dorothy Hedges was the accompanist.

Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ridge of Parkersburg, W. Va., Capt. and Mrs. Allen Weyant of Brooklyn, N. Y., Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Wohlschlag, Mr. and Mrs. Marlon Clark, Miss Ella E. Mears, Miss Bertha Wilder, R. L. Goetting and Jack Arter Jr.

The dinner was served by women of St. Paul's Lutheran church south of Marion.

Yule Party Set

Announcement was made that the club's annual Christmas ladies' night party will be given Thursday night, Dec. 17, at Hotel Harding.

At a make-up meeting Thursday noon at Hotel Harding for members who could not attend the dinner last night, Robert Williams, chairman of the Marion county gasoline rationing committee, outlined the procedure of making application and answered questions.

RECOVERY IN DOUBT

Felled by pneumonia, actress-socialite Cobina Wright, Jr. (above), is in a critical condition at Columbus, Ga., where she traveled from Hollywood to be present at the graduation of her husband, Palmer Beaudette, from officers' training school at Fort Benning.

"FRIEND BEFREE"

By The United Press

LOS ANGELES, Cal.—Declaring his belief that a person's name should express something of the personality and philosophy in life, Rumanian-born Febus Greenburg, 32, now an American citizen, has asked the court to change his name to "Friend Befree." With his new name, he will join the Army.

EXPLOSION BLASTS 2 STEEL FURNACES

Five Men Hurt in Youngstown Mishap.

By The Associated Press

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Nov. 13—Production was retarded extensively today at the Ohio works of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corp. here after two blast furnaces blew out, scalding five workmen and spoiling thousands of tons of iron.

Furnaces Nos. 5 and 6 were partly wrecked last night by the blasts, heard in most parts of the city and attributed indirectly to high winds. In addition, tons of metal in other furnaces served by the same power line were chilled.

Police said high tension lines carrying 30,000 volts were blown down at the plant, grounding on nearby railroad tracks. The power failure plunged the plant into darkness and shut off the pumping system which supplies water for the jacketing of the furnaces.

Filling with steam, the jackets on two furnaces burst and poured their contents on five employes. Three of the scalded workers were treated at the plant hospital and two were taken to Youngstown's south side hospital.

NEW NAZI DRIVE IN RUSSIA CHECKED

Report Stalingrad Defenders Halting All Attacks.

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW, Nov. 13—Repeated German attacks, which Red Star characterized as the beginning of a new Nazi offensive, were hurled at the defenders of Stalingrad yesterday but the Russians declared today that all the assaults had been repelled with heavy Nazi losses.

The Red army organ said the Germans had thrown overwhelmingly superior forces into the battle and the midday communique of the Soviet information bureau described the fighting as fierce.

Northwest of the Volga river city, Russian troops repulsed an enemy attack and wiped out 150 Nazis, the bulletin added.

The government organ Izvestia reported meanwhile that Russian aviators of the Black sea fleet had made a damaging surprise raid with parachutists on a German airdrome near Maikop in the Caucasus.

Following a heavy aerial bombardment, Izvestia said, the parachutists—armed with special equipment—were dropped on the field, where they set fire to 13 planes and damaged 10 more. They also were reported to have burned a railway station.

The Russians reported their artillery had prevented the Germans from effecting a river crossing northeast of Tuapse, inflicting heavy losses on the enemy.

ISALY STORE MANAGERS OF DISTRICT MEET HERE

Dinner Marks Launching of Contest.

Managers of Isaly stores in this section of the state met for dinner last night at Hotel Harding. The occasion launched a proposed contest to be staged during the next few months.

Talks were given by Richard Isaly, general manager and treasurer of the Isaly Dairy Co., Forest Green and George Black, supervisors and Walter R. Davis.

Present were managers from Bucyrus, Galion, Fostoria, Tiffin, Fremont, Findlay, Marysville, Marion, Urbana, Kenton, Bowling Green, Delaware, Piqua, Bellefontaine, Lima, Wapakoneta and Sidney and special guests included owners of stores carrying the Isaly name from Mt. Gilead, Clyde and Troy.

In the afternoon there was a bowling tournament.

TROOP TRAIN WRECKED

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Nov. 13—An express train laden with American, British and Fighting French troops collided with a freight train near Oxford today and two crewmen were killed. A number of the service men were trapped temporarily in the wreckage, but none was injured seriously, authorities said.

M. N. BRADY, [illegible] manager of the U. S. Rubber Co., was the guest speaker at a meeting of Capt. William Hendricks chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, at Hotel Harding [illegible].

Mr. Brady gave an account of the development of the [illegible] Ordnance Plant since its beginning in March.

The chapter regent, Mrs. C. O. Rutherford, presided at the business meeting. Mrs. Fred Hoch reported that members of the chapter had purchased war bonds amounting to $35,775 during the month of October. Mrs. C. J. Wetzel gave a report of the nature of the work being done at Ellis Island and called for a contribution to be made at the next meeting to help finance the project.

Mrs. William Gildersleeve was a guest when the Child Research club met last evening with Mrs. Virginia Barkley of 608 Uncapher avenue. Plans were made to join the Federation of Conservation leagues' potluck supper next Thursday night in the recreation room of the Ohio Gas Co. The club will give a program over Station WMRN on Dec. 10 at 10:15 a. m. A paper on "Overcoming Fear," was given by Mrs. Catherine Ansley. A contest was won by Mrs. Gildersleeve.

Mary Astor Again in Divorce Court

By The Associated Press

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 13—Thrice-wed screen actress Mary Astor is again headed for the divorce courts.

Her studio said she expects to file suit for divorce shortly against Manuel Del Campo, a flier now on leave from the Royal Canadian air force. No grounds were mentioned.

They were married in Yuma, Ariz., in Feb. 1937. They have one son, Tony, two and one-half years old.

Miss Astor's first husband was Kenneth Hawks, film writer, who was killed in an airplane accident in 1930. Her second marriage was to Dr. Franklin Thorpe. After five years, it ended in divorce in 1935. A daughter, Marilyn, was born to the Thorpes.

Korean Joan of Arc Here To Aid War Against Japan

PRINCESS MINN
She asks for bandages

By MARGARET KERNODLE
Wide World Features Writer

WASHINGTON — Tuck-soon Minn is a pale and pretty little princess who has come to Washington to push plans urging the United States to recognize the provisional government of her country, Korea, conquered by the Japanese 30 years ago.

While she talked with me she knitted for her soldiers, who she says are the most poorly clad, badly fed, uncomfortable fighters in the world.

She never saw the flag of Korea fly freely until she attended a Korean Liberty Conference in Washington. Always before she had seen it only in secret.

She has organized the Korean women of this country and Hawaii into the KWWA, or Korean Women's War Auxiliary, because she was so impressed with the progress of the WAAC's and the WAVES as well as with the volunteer organizations of American women war workers.

She herself wrote letters calling her countrywomen to assist the soldiers fighting with China by sending them war clothes and bandages via the Red Cross. Here in Washington the young princess even has husbands of KWWA members winding wool while business meetings go on. She doesn't let herself or anybody around her waste time.

She's thrilled when she makes speeches. She says: "I am thankful to speak out for the 23,000,000 people of Korea, my country, which is like a great silent house where the silence at night is broken only by prayers and weeping."

In her soft voice she tells horror stories of the Japanese occupation of her country, which has been under the rule of the people she calls "the island savages" longer than her own lifetime. She speaks as you'd expect a princess to speak—with poise and poignancy.

But with great pride she also tells Korean history, which she insists "is so little known now because the Japanese want the highly cultivated and civilized world to forget that we were a race with 5,000 years of history as a nation."

The Japanese want you to forget she says, that "a Korean invented movable type, that the first solar observatory in the world was in Korea, that a Korean admiral created the first iron-clad (and sank the Japanese fleet) and that our scholars and poets were among the greatest in the Orient."

Came To Study

This little princess really should be a student herself. She came to this country to study but this season is a season for war work.

She grew up in a country where she learned to speak Korean at home but was beaten if she spoke anything but Japanese in school. She was taught that "the Japanese race is a mighty one, with the bravest soldiers in the world. That there is no difference between Japanese and Koreans.

"That sort of stuff," she pointed out, "appeals to children. But as we grew up we realized we were treated as a conquered people exactly opposite to what they told us in school.

"They force us to adopt Japanese names, print only Japanese newspapers; they control bank accounts and property, kept the country filled with soldiers, police and spies to black out the civilization of my country."

Princess Minn's great aunt, the last queen of Korea, opposed the Japanese. So she was murdered, her body dismembered and burned in oil. Her uncle, the last king, was poisoned. "Since then it's been a lonely fight." She hasn't heard from her own father for two years.

Frankly she inquires, "Do we ask too much when we ask that your government recognize our government as an independent nation? You must answer, I, who have only lately been a schoolgirl, would not presume to do so. But my life is dedicated to the freedom of the Korean people."

Another Ship Record Set in San Francisco

By The Associated Press

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 13—Another ship construction record was set on San Francisco bay today. The Pacific Bridge Co. launched the 8,000-ton freighter Samuel Very, 80 hours after the keel was laid.

This shattered Henry J. Kaiser's record set yesterday at his Richmond No. 2 yard, of 111½ hours for the larger cargo carrier Robert E. Peary.

HE GOT THE FISH

By The United Press

UNION SPRINGS, N. Y.—When John Edward Cater, 70, failed to return after fishing three hours on Cayuga Lake, his wife became alarmed and a searching party was organized. Deputy sheriff collected grappling hooks and boats and started out on the lake. Cater was found five hours later by two would-be rescuers and taken to shore in their boat. The confusion over, the aged fisherman proudly displayed a seven-pound northern pike.

Hand Aid for War Workers

By BETTE CLARKE
Wide World Beauty Editor

How about it, war worker? Now that you're doing a man's work, the easiest way might be to let them get as rough as [illegible] feminine and [illegible] their [illegible] It's just [illegible] you're [illegible].

You won't have to be ashamed of your hands [illegible] when you should be enjoying your leisure [illegible] if you take extra care of those ten pretty fingers during your hours on duty at your war industry job.

Three things are a "must" in your locker—soap, a brush, a [illegible] lotion [illegible] It's the day-by-day care that counts towards preserving hand beauty. Before you check in at your bench, don't neglect to apply a lotion or cream to your hands. It will be just as effective against the grit and grease as it is against raw wind and chapping. Use the brush to remove any stain that might have settled under your fingernails.

Your weekly manicure is more important than ever and that's another beauty treatment any girl can do for herself. You've surely learned by now that your job is no place for long, glamorous fingernails. They just won't stay that way, so that means they must be filed at least once a week. You can keep the cuticle soft and pliable by pushing it back with the towel when you dry your hands and using cuticle oil every time you manicure.

Whether or not to use nail polish is a matter of personal opinion. One sure thing: it takes time and patience to wait for the stuff to dry.

SCIENTIFIC STUDY ABOUT SNORING IS CONCLUDED

There Are Various Causes, Medical Group Finds.

By The United Press

MADISON, Wis.—The indelicate and neglected art of snoring came into its own recently, with an announcement by the Wisconsin Medical Society in a bulletin that scientists after long research, have tabulated the emissions from the soft palate and uvula according to range, tone, pitch, volume and frequency.

Snoring, when done by an expert, can produce as much noise as a battery of clacking typewriters and ringing telephones in a busy office, the study revealed. A wheezy automobile is hard put to match the snores of a sound-minded man with a projecting mass of swollen mucous membrane and a deviated wall between the nasal cavities."

And yet, the bulletin pointed out, only one out of 10 snorers knows he has the habit, even though he may be awakened by the thunder of his own nocturnal rumblings.

The snore, ranging from a delicate nasal rasp to a deep rumbling roar, has many causes, the scientists noted. The sleeper invariably has his mouth open. It may be caused simply by relaxed jaw muscles or, more serious, tumor growths, bony deformities, enlarged adenoids, sinus infection, or colds. Cigaret smoking unquestionably contributes to snoring, the bulletin reported.

"There is little more to learn about the snore today," the report concluded, apparently satisfied that its findings would be the definitive work on the subject.

MURDER on the Campus

By JERRY BRONDFIELD

CHAPTER 22

Mr. Hazen

SUSAN was [illegible] up Sunday night when Peggy, Jane and Amy got home from Chicago. Amy, a [illegible] on her face, effected a stagger as she came in the room.

She plopped into a chair. "Well [illegible] Susie, did you miss your [illegible] a good time this week-end? What a game and what a chapter house those Delta Sigs have at Northwestern. It's simply something, that house. But I think we got an edge in gals," she added blithely. "They've got three or four backwoods specimens who look as though they put on shoes for the first time when they came down out of the hills."

Susan laughed. "That, I imagine, is the most important note you're going to offer on the whole trip."

"Oh, not exactly," Amy said, starting to unpack her valise. "Jane and I managed to see Eddie for a moment after the game."

Without looking up Amy said, "Eddie mentioned that Malone was being left behind in a hospital for observation. He got a terrific kick in the head."

"Oh, I didn't know that." Susan said with an attempt at being casual.

Amy, sitting on the floor, leaned back on her elbows, her chin slanted up, her eyes regarded Susan thoughtfully.

"Look, Susie," she began slowly. "We've been together for almost four years now and we're kind of used to letting our hair down once in awhile.

"Give forth now, honey child. You might not exactly admit to the rank and file but wouldn't you like to tell little Amy that you kind of go for the guy. Kind of . . . ?"

Susan rolled over and looked at her room-mate, a whimsical expression crossing her face. There was a slightly weary note in her tone when she answered. "I'd have a little more peace of mind if I knew myself. Sometimes—yes," she said. "Once in a great while—no. And most of the time I'm not sure myself," she added.

"That'll do for a starter," Amy told her. "I don't work for the Gestapo—I'll go easy on you. But I'm going to stick my oar in," she added meaningly. "Jane and Eddie swear by him, and that's enough for me. So, if you're looking for votes I'll cast a big one."

"It sounds like you're trying to stuff the ballot box." Susan smiled.

"He doesn't need it," Amy said shortly. "Not if it's a fair election."

Susan had to admit there was a lot in what Amy said. But she had just enough courage to put up some sort of battle against Todd's attitude. It just wasn't in her to overlook it with charitable toleration. Not something as important as that. Susan cracked her vein of thought there. She amended it to something that could be as important as that.

News For Todd

Todd got back from Chicago shortly after dinner Monday.

"What'd they do—kick you out of bed and give it to someone who really needed it?" Bill Gardner joined, shaking his hand.

"Just about," Todd grinned. "Eddie home from practice yet?"

"Inside," Bud said, pointing to the dining room.

Eddie was just finishing dinner. "Hiya, boy scout," Eddie cried cheerfully. "What's the latest diagnosis? Pull up a chair. Eat yet?"

Todd sat down. "Ate on the train. The diagnosis contained a flock of medical terminology that wound up with slight concussion but nothing serious. What'd you expect—permanent disability?"

Eddie grinned. "You going to be ready Saturday?"

"Maybe—if Doc Ellett says so. What's new?"

"Nothing much. Tried out a couple of new plays we'll use against Colgate. Flunked another physiology quiz, and—"

Eddie stopped for a moment and snapped his fingers. "Say, I almost forgot. Seems the day we left for Northwestern there was a shooting. Riley Beckett—you know who he is, the guy who ran the Trinidad Club?—well Beckett got himself involved in the Humphries thing and just when the cops go to talk to him about it he gets bumped off in a robbery. Can you beat it?"

"Killed!" Todd echoed. "Who did it?"

"Oh, just a couple of yeggs. They make no difference—they were nabbed anyway—but what I'd like to know is in what way is this Beckett connected with Humphries."

"You can say that twice," Todd said. "Has old Gumshoe Lake been [illegible] and lately?"

"Not [illegible] me [illegible] Susan [illegible] last week [illegible] attorney."

"Susan—what [illegible] What does she know that we don't?" Todd demanded, a faint note of irritability creeping into his voice.

"Don't ask [illegible] But anyway, it's about time you started seeing things in a different light. If you don't, I'm going to grab you by that [illegible] of yours and pound some sense into it."

Eddie jabbed at his dish of jello. "Papa Drake comes to town and snaps his fingers at Little Rollo and you roll over and play dead." Eddie said [illegible].

Enter The Stranger

Todd got into uniform for the Colgate game but Pete Bailey called him aside and told him he didn't think he'd need him. "Doc Ellet thinks it might be a good idea if you got another few days rest before you get into the rough stuff."

So Todd sat on the bench huddled in blankets beside Bailey and watched State rip through to a 26-13 decision. Jimmy Woods, a junior, handled the team well. Jimmy would make Pete a good quarterback next year.

Later in the locker room, Todd was just finishing dressing when Bailey came over with a large, pleasant-faced man.

"Todd, this is Tom Hazen. Tom played some football here 20 years ago. He wants to talk to you."

"Well, I should say so," Todd [illegible] enthusiastically. "Glad to know you, Mr. Hazen."

Tom Hazen had played some football for State, all right. Played it well enough to make All-America.

Hazen shook hands with him heartily. "Too bad you weren't in shape today. It's the only time I was able to get down here. But I saw you a couple of times last year. Wish we could have had you running up our backs in the old days."

Hazen rested a leg on a bench. "May I drive you up to the house? I want to talk to you about something."

Lack of Food Takes Big Toll of Babies in Greece

By The United Press

NEW YORK—In the last two months, nine out of 10 new-born babies in Greece have died because of lack of food, according to a report received by the Near East Foundation from the Greek Red Cross. There were 300,000 babies in Greece when the country was conquered by the Nazis. 110,000 of them have died of malnutrition or disease, the report says.

The Near East Foundation aids in the preparation and distribution of food received from the United States, Canadian and British governments. It distributes milk received from the Greek Government-In-Exile, through Switzerland under a lend-lease agreement, to 12,000 children daily.

gaging entangled at the spectacle

A braggard lounged in a doorway of his tobacco shop, making critical remarks and recounting his feats at Verdun to a group of local loafers.

During one lull in the fighting everybody was invited into a local cafe for a glass of vin rouge (red wine)—on the house.

During one ear-splitting tornado of machine-gun fire, the local milkman came dashing by on his cart, accompanied by pere and mere, and went right through a hail of fire without a scratch.

If the French behaved oddly, they had nothing on the Arabs.

All through what seemed to me like quite a battle the Arab population wandered up and down the streets as though nothing was happening.

Follow The Crowds TO ALBERS There Is A Reason

As you have passed Albers Super Market, you undoubtedly noticed the crowds—the countless numbers in the grocery department making their own selections, the many customers around the meat department—the produce department, too, is also crowded with customers.

All the clerks are busy, boys hurriedly carrying packages to customers' cars.

There definitely IS a reason why Albers Super Market always has so many more customers than other food stores. If you are not one of Albers many friends enjoying Albers Savings, we suggest that you purchase just one week's supply at Albers and you will readily understand why Albers Super Market is always crowded.

EVERY TIME I SEE JOE SCOWL I KNOW HOW LUCKY I AM!

● Me and Joe are on the same shift down at the shop. Sometimes we work nights—sometimes days. But every time we knock off for lunch and set our lunch pails down, Joe always goes through the same routine. He opens the box—unwraps a sandwich—looks it over top an' bottom—an' then he scowls.

Maybe he takes a couple of bites and then switches off to a piece of pie or something! But it's easy to see his sandwiches ain't up to grade.

Me? I just reach in an' get one of those good eatin' sandwiches I know is there—an' then I go on to enjoy myself. Why? Well, Mary always makes my sandwiches with Omar Bread. They always got good taste—always fresh—always make a man feel like he's had somethin' good to eat—somethin' that'll "stick to the ribs."

The best way I know of describin' Omar Bread is to say it's "good eatin'." Mary laughs and says that's because Omar is made good. I guess she's right and I guess I'm lucky that she knows good bread when she sees it.

HY-SCORE BAKING METHOD GUARDS OMAR'S GOODNESS

CRUST. Golden-brown. Smooth and soft.
TEXTURE. Full-developed cell structure. Cake-like appearance.
FLAVOR. Fresh, wholesome, wheaty aroma and a delightful taste that everyone enjoys.
FOOD VALUE. 99% digestible. An unexcelled source of lasting energy.
VITAMINS AND MINERALS. Enriched with Vitamin B₁, Niacin and Iron in food form for nerve health, good digestion and good blood.
FRESHNESS. Out-of-the-Oven freshness that belongs out the best in good bread.
How does the bread you are now using compare with Omar on these important qualities?

Harding Gridders Set for 1942 Finale Tonight with Galion Team

ALREADY assured of at least a share of their fourth straight North Central Ohio conference football title, Marion Harding's Presidents tackle a scrappy Galion Orangemen team tonight in Harding stadium with an undisputed championship hinging on the outcome of the game.

Victory over the Orangemen will yield the Hardings a clear title, while an upset loss would drop the Hardings into a two-way tie with Ashland, defeated only by Marion.

For 17 senior members of the Harding squad tonight's game will be their last in Harding grid togs. Since it will be their final game, Head Coach Vic Dorris for the second straight week has elected an all-senior starting line-up. However he explained, anyone of the seniors in the starting line-up will be pulled from the game at the slightest sign of weakening.

Seniors who will end their scholastic football careers tonight are Capt. Keith Williams, Don Benedict, Gene Foley and Jim Midlam, all ends, Don Kay, Lester Russell, Jack Whaley and Francis O'Hara, all tackles, Bob Dixon and Tom Boyd, guards, Tom Hurst, Jack Sidenstricker and John Johnson, all centers, Harold Jenkins, Fred Ruhl, LeRoy Harvey and Calvin Scott, all backs.

In the starting line-up will be Williams and Benedict at ends, Kay and Russell at tackles, [illegible] and Dixon at guards, Hurst at center and Jenkins, Ruhl, [illegible] Harvey in the backfield.

In preparing for the Galion eleven, Coach Dorris has warned his team to guard against overconfidence. Galion cannot be taken lightly. [illegible] They [illegible] their [illegible] four years and they will be out to avenge the stinging defeats administered by Marion.

Galion last beat Marion in 1932 [illegible] the N. C. O. title. The [illegible] the Orangemen by 34-0. In 194[illegible] and [illegible] 34-0 [illegible] and [illegible] 66-0 to set a new all-time high scoring for a Harding team.

The Harding Senior Hi-Y club's annual [illegible] Day program will be a feature of the halftime [illegible] tonight. Big Ten Lead at Stake in Ohio State-Illinois Game

Battle in Cleveland's Municipal Stadium Saturday May Decide Championship.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Nov. 13 — Records and other statistical paraphernalia of the "form" players went out the window today as Ohio State and Illinois came here for their Western conference title-bearing football game in Cleveland's lakefront stadium tomorrow.

The chips will be down for a loss would topple one of the teams from the top conference rung they now share with Iowa. So you can forget the records which show Ohio hasn't lost to Illinois since 1934 and holds a 18 to 12 edge in games won—with two tied—in 30 years of Ohio-Illinois gridiron rivalry.

Bucks Given Edge

Offensively and defensively, the statistics of this year's play give the Bucks an edge but this is a new football era for the Illini and statistics don't count. They didn't against Minnesota and Northwestern when ball-stealing won for the alert Illini.

These two elevens are famous for staging hair-raising games and this may be no exception for the 60,000 or more fans who'll brave the breezes of Lake Erie to see the tilt which was shifted from Champaign, Ill.

Ohio and Illinois were scheduled for brief workouts this afternoon in the stadium to "warm-up" after their train rides here.

Closing their heavy workouts at Columbus yesterday, the Bucks eased up on passing practice and devoted most of a fast, snappy session to formulating defenses to stop the Illini's swift attack.

For the first time this season, Ohio will run up against an opposing line that can match the Bucks in speed—and speed, if the footing is dry, is expected to play a big part in the game's outcome.

Passer Hurt

Illinois' ace passer, Halfback Dick Good, is suffering from knee injuries and may be unable to play.

Ohio may start the same line-up that it did against Pitt with the possible exception of Don McCafferty of Cleveland replacing William Willis, Columbus sophomore, at left tackle. Willis was on the bench with a lame leg last week.

Illinois has lost only two games, to Notre Dame 21 to 14 and Michigan 28 to 14. It beat South Dakota 46 to 0, Butler 67 to 0, Minnesota 20 to 13, Iowa 12 to 7, and Northwestern 14 to 7.

Ohio was upset by Wisconsin 17 to 7, in a game which knocked the Bucks from the national leadership, and won from Fort Knox 59 to 0, Indiana 32 to 21, Southern California 28 to 12, Purdue 26 to 0, Northwestern 20 to 6 and Pittsburgh 59 to 19.

The Irish Have Plenty To Cheer About—Here's Why.

By LOREN W. TIBBALS
Marion Star Sports Editor

The cheering still can be heard and rightly so.

Climaxing its greatest season since 1937, the Irish eleven held mighty Springfield Catholic Central to a 7-7 draw last Sunday. The tie gave the Saints a record of three wins, three losses and one tie in a seven-game season.

Of course this record on the surface doesn't seem to be much to shout about. But scratch the surface, dig down and find the truth or check school enrollment and you'll find there really is good enough basis for plenty of singing and some strong shouting.

In the first place total enrollment for all 12 grades in the school is only a little over 450. Of this number 335 are in the grade school and the remaining 125 are high school students. Of the total high school enrollment there are only 56 boys.

Over half of this number are members of the football team so you figure it out. It's remarkable I would say.

Here's a pretty good community project.

Half of the proceeds from tonight's Morral - Caledonia high school basketball game, to be played at Morral, will be placed in a fund to purchase holiday gift boxes for youths of the community in the armed services. Ladies of the Morral Methodist church are preparing the boxes.

These two teams inaugurated cage play in the county a week ago in a game at Caledonia, Morral winning 23-21. Reserve teams of the two schools will tangle in a preliminary game.

Harding's Vic Dorris was a member of the Ohio State university varsity football squad when Jim Lemper, head coach of the Galion High school team, was assistant freshman baseball coach at Ohio State. The two begin gridiron rivalry tonight when their teams tangle at Harding stadium in an N. C. O. feature.

NO WASTE OF EFFORT IN COLLEGE SCORING

1942 Offensive Figures Surpass Marks for 1941.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Nov. 13—Collegiate football not only is continuing its trend toward greater offense under wartime conditions, but it is doing it with an even greater economy of effort.

The nation's gridiron teams were averaging 222.8 yards a game on the basis of figures released today by the American Football Statistical Bureau. This compared with a 1941 average of 221.8 yards per team per game.

And where last year's collegians averaged a point for every 16 yards gained, they're getting that point this year by traveling only 15 yards. As a result, 1942 teams are boasting of a 14.98 point a game average to the 13.75 of last year.

The statistical bureau's reason for it was greater scoring finesse and even better coaching methods.

The advance in total offense can be attributed to superior running attacks, for all forward passing the country's footballers slipped from 1941 when they averaged 80.6 yards per game and also established a record for percentage of completions.

The most offensive minded section of the nation is the midwest where major teams are averaging 247.7 yards a game per team, although running second to the southwest in actual scoring. . .

Mt. Vernon Tilt Tonight Is Bucyrus Homecoming

BUCYRUS, Nov. 13—Bucyrus Redmen were entertained at their annual dinner Thursday night when the team went to the home of Coach Nick Wasylik after practice. Mr. and Mrs. Wasylik and Clayton Gearhart, Bucyrus grocery, were hosts at the dinner.

Tonight when the Mt. Vernon Yellow Jackets come to Bucyrus for the final game of the season, the annual homecoming and parent's night will be observed at the game which will be followed by a homecoming dance in the high school gym.

Buffalo Icers Win Over Providence To Hike Lead

By The Associated Press

The Buffalo Bisons defeated the Providence Reds, 5-1, last night although they played without Fred Thurier, the American hockey league's leading scorer. He was in Montreal to confer with his draft board.

By winning, the Bisons increased their Western division lead to three points over the second-place Indianapolis Capitals.

There were no other games last night.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 13—They'll pull the stopper at the Ohio State-Illinois football tilt in Cleveland tomorrow!

Here's a football natural . . . Western conference championship aspirations of both teams hinge on the outcome . . . Both elevens are fast outfits packing a knockout punch . . . and Illinois, with its best team in years, will be endeavoring to break a seven-year losing record in contests with the Bucks.

POLAR BEARS SEEK STATE GRID TITLE

Ohio Northern in Quest of Ohio Conference Win.

ADA, Nov. 13—Ohio Northern's Polar Bear gridders, in top place in the Ohio conference standings, will meet the Student Princes of Heidelberg in the final game of the season here Saturday.

If, and fans concede it's a big if, the Polar Bears win over Heidelberg, Ohio Northern will be Ohio conference champion with a total of five victories and one tie for the season. If the Polar Bears lose, John Carroll, with three conference victories and one tie, will take the championship.

If the Polar Bears win, Coach Millard "Lefty" Murphy will have the distinction of winning a conference championship in his first year of college coaching, and the Polar Bears will have won their second conference title, the first having been won in 1934 when the Polar Bears were undefeated and unscored on for the season.

Coach Murphy's men have now shown consistent progress throughout the season, with several freshmen sharing equal duties with seasoned veterans on the squad. Freshmen who might be counted as regulars include Bernard Kauffman, tackle, Lisbon; Joe DeLuca, guard, Newburgh, N. Y., and Frank Waringington, end, Sidney.

Seven seniors will be playing their last game for the Polar Bears Saturday. They are Kent Cotterman, halfback, Alger; Angelo Jannotti, guard, Newburgh, N. Y.; John McCutchen, tackle, Toronto; Ken Shoemaker, end, Washington C. H.; Joe Thomas, tackle, Bristolville; Warren Widner, end, Lima, and Mike Lechlop, center, Steubenville.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13—Did you know that there's a football team representing one of the "major" eastern colleges that is undefeated so far and hasn't had a nickel's worth of publicity about it? The team is Princeton's 150-pound outfit, which may come through to another title if it can knock off Penn today. The Lightweights get only four games this year, since Yale and Lafayette suspended operations in the eastern 150-pound league.

[illegible] and women interviewed [illegible] recently, a majority of women favor police drives and repression of prostitution, which is the attitude expressed by Surgeon General Thomas Parran and both the Secretary of War and the Secretary of the Navy in letters to civil authorities in areas surrounding camps.

Here is the way the attitude of the men and women compare.

	Men	Women
Weekly medical examination	61%	49%

The Army has in effect a strict program to which soldiers are expected to adhere. The Army inspects all inductees and quarantines them for a three-week period. After that soldiers are examined once every four weeks. And prophylaxis stations are provided for soldiers who may have been exposed. A soldier who fails to take precautions and who consequently contracts venereal diseases is subject to court martial.

But if eradication of venereal disease in the Army depends upon repression of prostitution in areas surrounding Army camps then apparently, the public must be educated on this point.

The attitude of those who prefer regulation to repression is summed up by a bank clerk in Phoenix, Ariz., who told a field reporter, "That condition existed since Adam and Eve. You can't eliminate it; so control it."

On the other side was the statement of a Morristown, N. J., lawyer who said, "Vice can not be regulated. It must be exterminated."

Juke Honn of Anamosa, Ia., completed 77 of the first 84 passes he threw this season for 1,434 yards. And Bob 'General' Lee of New Castle, Pa., has gained 1,143 yards by rushing in 130 tries, completed 21 of 45 passes, scored 15 touchdowns and, as safety man, hasn't let an opponent get past him to score. Oh yes, he does the punting and calls the signals.

The field judge must check the time . . . and watch the forward progress of the ball on goal-line plays . . . with the Badgers trailing 6 to 0, here was how Reese pictured his situation to the Dayton Agonis club:

Wisconsin had the ball on Iowa's one yard line with four downs but only seconds to go . . On first down Fullback Pat Harder gained only a couple of inches . . . The clock ticked away and Wisconsin lined up quickly for another play . . . Reese had to keep his eye on the ball and the clock to determine whether the play started before the period ended . . . The ball again went back to Harder, but his interference jammed up on him and he was stopped at the goal just as the second ticked down to zero and Reese fired the shot that signaled a win for Iowa.

"It was the toughest spot, for things to do, I've ever been in," Reese declared.

College Farmers at Work

Colorado college students harvest their spuds.

Wide World Features

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. —With spuds in basement, chickens in the coop, Colorado college students are assured of eating, for the duration, from the products of the college farm.

A year ago college officials decided that the institution's 6,000 unfarmed acres near Manitou Park, not far from the Colorado Springs campus, should be placed in agricultural production.

An experienced farmer was placed in charge. After a year's work, the farm's inventory shows 110 hogs, 42 head of cattle and 1,450 chickens.

Three cases of eggs are delivered each week to the college campus. Soon the supply will equal all the school's demands.

More than 800 sacks of potatoes — almost 80,000 pounds — were placed in the new vegetable storage bins. Large quantities of parsnips, carrots, turnips and beets were harvested.

Thurston J. Davies, college president, and large squads of college students worked in the harvest because of a drought of hired hands.

Ernest H. Smith, college treasurer, says the institution is not going into the farming business but is attempting to simplify the supply situation for the college dining room where 6,000 meals are served each week.

How U. S. Will Convert Marion Homes To House War Workers

Following is one of a series of questions and answers on the home conversion program which the National Housing Agency will inaugurate in Marion within two weeks to relieve the critical need of homes for workers at the Scioto Ordnance Plant and the Marion Engineer Depot and their families. By reading each day's articles Marion property owners will have the answers to virtually all their questions in connection with the program. The questions and answers were prepared by the National Housing Agency.

Q. By what agency will the property be converted and managed?

A. By the National Housing Agency acting for the federal government.

Q. What type of house does the NHA want to lease?

A. Any property which can be converted at reasonable cost to accommodate one or more additional families of war workers.

Q. Where must such property be located?

A. Within walking or convenient transportation distance from war plants and in districts where zoning laws permit conversion. (NHA officials believe that in a community the size of Marion, virtually all areas will meet this requirement.)

Q. What will the NHA pay the owner?

A. A fair and businesslike return based on the use to which the property is put.

Q. What will be done with the property?

A. It will be remodeled to provide additional living quarters, which will be rented to war workers.

Q. Will the owner be permitted to suggest character and extent of alteration, or have anything to say about what remodeling is done?

A. Plans will be submitted to him for approval before the lease is signed.

Q. Who pays the cost of remodeling?

A. NHA will advance funds for the remodeling, which will be repaid out of the rents charged the war workers.

Q. If an owner is willing to lease his house, what does he do?

A. He fills out an application blank furnished by his local war housing center. (The Marion center is expected to be opened within two weeks. In the meantime, inquiries may be made at the Chamber of Commerce office at 116 North State street.)

Q. What is the next step?

A. The house is inspected and, if it is suitable for conversion, the owner's application is processed for the negotiation of a lease with the owner.

Q. Who will live in the house after it is leased?

A. War workers with their families designated as eligible by the local War Housing Center.

Q. Will the owner be allowed one of the living units for his family?

A. Yes—at an agreed rental rate.

Q. Who will take care of the property?

A. The NHA will maintain it during the period of the lease.

Q. Will the NHA lease a property if the surplus rooms in it are now rented to war workers?

A. No—because the purpose of this program is to provide additional units for war workers.

Q. If I own a home now occupied by tenants, will the NHA permit me to dispossess them, lease, and convert the property?

A. No—such action would aggravate, not alleviate, the housing shortage.

Q. In what condition will the owner get back his house?

A. He will get back the remodeled house.

DR. R. T. MORGAN IS APPOINTED CORONER

Takes Over Job as Son Enters Army Service.

Appointment of Dr. R. T. Morgan of 649 Girard avenue to succeed his son Dr. Ronald L. Morgan, as Marion county coroner was announced today by Marion county commissioners.

Young Dr. Morgan reported today at Fort Hayes for assignment to duty as a first lieutenant in the Army medical corps. He was appointed coroner last Dec. 4 to fill the unexpired term of Dr. J. M. Buckmaster of LaRue who resigned because of ill health. Rejected because of a foot ailment when he volunteered more than a year ago, Dr. Morgan again offered his services several months ago and was eventually accepted for limited service.

His wife will remain at their home at 570 South State street until he is assigned and then she will join him.

His father, the new coroner, has offices at 159 South Prospect street.

Three Are Indicted on Vote Fraud Charge

CLEVELAND, Nov. 13—Two men and a woman are under indictment on charges of election fraud in the filing of petitions for Common Pleas Judge Gus R. WHEAT, CORN, RYE PRICES SLIP TODAY

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Nov. 13 — Rye prices slumped almost two cents a bushel and wheat and corn lost nearly a cent today before the grain market steadied.

Liquidation of December delivery contracts broke out in the rye market and spread to other pits. This touched off stop loss selling and general evening up of accounts.

Belief that the government will act next week to relieve the wheat-flour price squeeze through release of grain to mills in order to preserve flour ceilings and continuation of the government's feed wheat sales program without price change attracted attention.

Couple Exchange Vows at Hopewell Church

Special to The Star

HEPBURN—On Sunday, Nov. 8, at 2:30 p. m. Miss Ruthella Predmore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Predmore, became the bride of E. Russel Sanders, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Sanders of Waynesfield. The single ring ceremony was performed by Rev. E. M. Burroughs in an open church wedding in the Hopewell church. More than 200 friends and relative attended.

Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. James Baldrige played several nuptial selections and Mrs. Paul Pfeiffer sang.

They were attended by Miss Dorothy Kinnear and Earl Andrews. Ushers were Myron Barnes and Merrill Predmore.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents with Mrs. Merrill Predmore, Mrs. Joe Finney, and Mrs. Thomas Wilcox presiding.

Following the reception they left for a short wedding trip and upon their return will reside on a farm near Waynesfield.

Mrs. Sanders is a graduate of Kenton High school, Otterbein college at Westerville, and Bliss Business college in Columbus. For the past five years she has been employed at the Hardin county agricultural office.

The bridegroom was graduated from Waynesfield High school and is engaged in farming.

STOCK TREND IS IRREGULAR

Wishful Peace Thinking Counter-Balances Worry Over Long War.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 13—Wishful peace thinking and long-war arguments were about even-up in today's stock market and most departments continued to exhibit mild irregularity.

Bonds were narrow and commodities a shade easier.

Gold mining stocks, among peace-time favorites, enjoyed an early flurry with Dome registering a new top for the year and Homestake advancing. Forward inclinations were shown by Sears Roebuck, Standard Oil (NJ), Union Carbide and Chesapeake & Ohio. Laggards included U. S. Steel, Allied Chemical, Western Union and J. C. Penney.

Aside from international factors, the matter of liquidation for income tax purposes was beginning to arouse boardroom discussion as to just how much of this the market would have to absorb over the next month.

PUBLIC SALE Of 150 Acre Farm

Having sold my 130-acre farm south of Cardington and in order that I can spend full time agency work for The Midland Mutual Life Ins. Co., I will sell at public auction in the forenoon on my farm of 150 acres located on Route 61, four miles south of Mt. Gilead and four miles east of Cardington.

This farm will be a good investment for some man who wants a stock farm.

There are about 90 acres of good pasture land, 35 acres of well tiled, fertile plow land, and around 600 young sugar trees large enough to tap if you wish to develop a sugar camp, and other good timber.

Attractive 6-room house and barn 40x40 feet, and other buildings, all painted and in good repair. Fences good. Spring water in pasture and automatic pressure water system in house and to stock tank at barn. Electricity in all buildings.

Time is short for you to inspect this farm, but it will pay you to make arrangements immediately.

Terms: 10% cash on day of sale, balance cash upon delivery of deed, unless other arrangements are made with owner prior to sale. Owner is willing to make time arrangements with responsible purchaser if made before time of sale.

This sale will start promptly at 10 o'clock at Farm on Route 61 and must be completed before large chattel sale starts on other farm south of Cardington, which starts promptly at 11 o'clock.

New Ideas About TB

THE ENTIRE conception of [illegible]

[illegible]

It is to be considered that [illegible] determining test for [illegible] is finding the germs in the sputum. Now we [illegible] and if they are found it is a [illegible].

Under treatment it was taught [illegible] 25 years ago that the patient could get well in his own home. Only a few arrangements had to be made to give him fresh air and the treatment would be just as successful at home as anywhere. Now the conviction is established that wherever possible the patient with tuberculosis should be placed in an institution, primarily in order to protect the other people in the home.

All that was needed for cure was supposed 40 years ago to be rest, fresh air and plenty of nourishing food. It is known now that it is almost impossible to cure a case of tuberculosis without surgical treatment, such as collapse of the lung. It certainly is true of what is known as the open case—one with a cavity.

Climate, the layman's hope and idea of the be-all of tuberculosis treatment, was regarded as very doubtfully beneficial then, and the doctrine still holds.

We still need rest, fresh air and good food although we do not stuff tuberculosis patients with extra meals nowadays as much as we used to. Climate then, as now, is assessed to add about a one per cent advantage to any cure.

These changes in viewpoint have certainly proved themselves in practice and have done much to help the improved results. They are often hard for the afflicted one to face, but they are certainly realistic.

Washington's government is headed by three commissioners, appointed by the president to three-year terms at $9,000 annually.

The aggregate weight of materials used in the construction of the Capitol at Washington is 8,909,200 pounds.
